Eleven Killed in U.S. Train Wreck

Hundred Others Injured in Crash Near Niland, Cal. Switch Thrown

NILAND, Calif. (AP) — The sudden, unexplainable decision of a brakeman to throw a siding switch some miles from here was blamed by Southern Pacific officials for a railroad wreck today that killed 11 persons and injured 100, many critically.

C. F. Donnat, Southern Pacific superintendent at Los Angeles, blamed the wreck on "man failure, an unexplainable act by Eric Leonard Jacobson," head-end brakeman employed by the road for 18 years.

A split-second after the switch was thrown, the Argonaut, crack limited train Los Angeles-bound from New Orleans, roared down the track, swerved sharply on to the siding and ploughed into its sister train, the Californian, east-bound for Chicago.

The Californian was waiting for the Argonaut to pass on the main single tracks.

Donnat said Jacobson, dazed and hysterical by the effect of his sudden decision, was unable to explain his action.

Both locomotives were overturned, and the first three cars of the Argonaut and the first coach of the Californian were derailed. All of the eight passengers dead were in a Californian coach, which was telescoped by the terrific impact. The fireman of the Argonaut and the engineer and fireman of the Californian were killed.

LIST OF VICTIMS

Those who lost their lives were:

Florence A. Tator, 30, Rhineback, N.Y.

Mrs. E. W. Hall, Loma Linda, Calif.

Mrs. G. A. Hall, Loma Linda, Calif.

Robert N. Richardson, engineer of the Argonaut, Los Angeles.

P. E. Martin, fireman, Californian, Los Angeles.

H. R. Parsons, fireman of the Argonaut, Los Angeles.

Mrs. Joe Sorels, Nogales, Ariz.

Miss Rylva Easter, Los Angeles, who died en route to a hospital.

Three unidentified girls.

Nearly all the passengers were asleep at the time of the collision. Darkness heightened the confusion and hysteria of the passengers as they sought to escape from the smashed coaches.

Rescue work was impeded because many of those trapped in the twisted steel coaches had to be released by means of acetylene torches. Relief trains were sent from Yuma, Ariz., and Indio, Calif., to the wreck.

TAKEN TO YUMA

One of the relief locomotives pulled the Argonaut's passenger cars which were not derailed back to Yuma where many of the injured were taken off, and the Argonaut proceeded to Los Angeles on another route.

Some of the injured were treated at the scene by doctors and nurses hastily recruited from small communities in this sparsely populated area.

J. H. Dyer, Southern Pacific vice-president who was aboard the Argonaut, took personal charge of the rescue work. He reported one of the women passengers killed was the mother of an eight-month-old baby. The infant escaped with slight injuries.

The less seriously injured were taken to Yuma. Fourteen, more seriously hurt, were removed to hospitals nearby.

Officials said the wreckage would be cleared away late this afternoon.

Only member of the two locomotive crews to escape death was S. C. Mason, the Californian's engineer. He leaped a split second before the crash at the warning of his fireman, P. E. Martin. Martin was crushed to death.

Eyes Offered

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — More than 75 persons in the United States and Canada have offered N. O. Warner, blind storekeeper, one of their eyes for sale, the price ranging from $500 to $25,000.

Warner recently announced he would pay a "reasonable sum" for an eye to be used in a grafting operation which he hopes will enable him to see again.

Eighteen Men To Face Court

Police Boat Takes Arrested Group to Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — A British Columbia police boat nosed through the Gulf of Georgia today, bringing 18 prisoners, arrested at Blubber Bay, B.C., 80 miles north of here, after a labor fracas on the government wharf there, to Vancouver.

Five of the prisoners were arrested Saturday night when police used riot sticks and tear gas to break up a fight between striking and working employees of the Pacific Lime Company. Members of the International Woodworkers of America, a committee for Industrial Organization affiliate, the five union men were charged with inciting to riot or unlawful assembly.

The other 13 were arrested last night and taken to Powell River, on the mainland, nine miles from Texada Island, where Blubber Bay is situated, preparatory to being brought here by police cutter. The nature of the charges against them was not revealed.

The Saturday night fracas was an incident arising from the walkout several months ago of a group of company employees demanding higher wages and better working conditions. Since then the company has been operating on reduced schedule.

PRISON GUARDS ARE INDICTED

Ten Persons Face Charges For "Heat Deaths" of Four Convicts at Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Murder and manslaughter indictments were returned today by the grand jury against 10 officials and guards of the Philadelphia county prison where four convicts recently died from heat in punishment cells.

Those indicted include William B. Mills, superintendent of the prison, and Frank A. Craven, deputy warden.

James McGuire, captain of guards, and Francis J. Smith and Alfred W. Brough, guards, also were indicted on murder and manslaughter charges.

Guards Robert Morrow, William Staines, Thomas Cavanaugh, John Mulherin and Sylvester Weaver were indicted on charges of manslaughter.

The convicts, who were found "baked to death" in their cells August 22, were Frank Comolera, Henry Osborne, James McQuade and Joseph Walters.

Big Parade Seen

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The big parade was held here today as the American Legion, meeting here in its 20th annual convention, put business aside.

The parade, traversing the shortest route in Legion history, tramped up Figueroa Street to the Coliseum, circled the dirt track and marched out again to be dismissed.

Tomorrow, with all frivolity finished, the Legion again will get down to serious business ending Thursday.

The tall figure is Viscount Halifax, British Foreign Secretary. The picture was radioed across the Atlantic.

Daring Mercy Flight

Port Alberni Boy Recovers in Hospital After "Zero-zero" Plane Trip to Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — Twelve-year-old Wallace Winter was responding to hospital treatment today after Pilot N. E. Small of Canadian Airways had fought "zero-zero" visibility conditions to bring him here on a mercy flight from Port Alberni.

All flights to Vancouver Island had been canceled yesterday as a result of peculiar atmospheric conditions which made smoke, clouds, sea and land merge so no horizon was visible when Wallace's parents appealed for aid.

The child was in critical condition, their appeal said, from an acute mastoid.

So Pilot Small set out to bring the boy to hospital. He landed at Port Alberni by instruments alone. Then he took off again, picked up the radio beam from the Sea Island airport near here and flew in without trouble. An ambulance was waiting to take the boy to the hospital.

HURRICANE NEAR COAST OF U.S.

Storm Warnings Posted Today Along North Carolina Shore

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The United States weather bureau today ordered northeast storm warnings displayed along the North Carolina coast and said a tropical hurricane of "great intensity" would pass east of Cape Hatteras tonight.

The bureau said the storm, which yesterday menaced south Florida, now was moving north-northwestward or northward about 17 miles an hour.

The centre of the hurricane, the bureau said, was about 300 miles east of Vero Beach, Fla., at 4 a.m.

Caution was advised for all ships in the path of the storm and small craft were warned to stay in port from the Virginia Capes to Charleston, S.C.

The northern islands of the Bahama group felt the fringe of the storm early today. A 30-mile wind blew at Hopetown, on Abaco Island, at 1 a.m., while Governor's Harbor, of Eleuthera Island, reported a 42-mile northwest wind. The islands have few inhabitants.

No Session of British House

LONDON (CP-Havas) — Prime Minister Chamberlain in a written reply to Rt. Hon. Clement Attlee, tonight refused the opposition leader's request for immediate convocation of parliament to consider the Czechoslovak issue.

Mr. Attlee in a letter earlier today had urged the Prime Minister to summon parliament without delay to consider the government's "proposed grave departure from declared British policy."

Marketing Board

EDMONTON (CP) — Establishment of a new provincial marketing board and appointment of George A. Clash, Medicine Hat, as its chairman was announced today by Hon. E. C. Manning, Alberta Minister of Trade and Industry. Details of the board and the operations it will undertake were not disclosed.

Air Raiders Kill 12

MADRID (AP) — Twelve persons were killed today and about 30 injured in the first insurgent air raid thus far on Alcoy, important town 28 miles northwest of Alicante.

HAS TRIAL SHIFTED — In New York today State Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora granted the request of District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey (above) for transfer of the second trial of James J. Hines, Tammany district leader, to the court of general sessions.

Justice Pecora declared a mistrial in the case September 12. Hines is accused in the policy racket headed by the late Arthur (Dutch) Schultz, Fiegenheimer.

RAIL PRICES IN U.S. REDUCED

PITTSBURGH (AP) — United States big steel bid today for more business from its one-time best customer, the railroads, by reducing prices of rails and accessories from $2 to $3 a ton.

In announcing the cut, the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, largest unit of the giant United States Steel, also confirmed all other prices for fourth quarter delivery.

Other producers are expected to step quickly into line with the price list and relieve some uncertainty which had developed due to the more than two weeks delay in the usual time for fixing final period quotations.

Coming as it did with employment, production and payroll levels slowly increasing in the industry, the move was viewed here as stabilizing both wages and prices.

EDEN VISITS FOREIGN OFFICE

LONDON (AP) — Anthony Eden, who resigned as Foreign Secretary February 20, visited the Foreign Office today for the third time during the current crisis.

Charles Corbin, French ambassador, preceded him there. It was understood both saw Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, who had left the "inner cabinet" prior to their arrival.

BENEFACTOR ROBBED

VANCOUVER (CP) — Axel Duhenberg has found it doesn't always pay to be kind to those who ask for aid, police were told today. He reported he had bought a stranger a meal and then allowed him to clean up his room as payment. The stranger made a clean-up of Duhenberg's clothes, valued at $25, instead.

Czechs' Answer Leaves Avenue Open For Talks

Roumania Bars Soviet Aid

Would Not Consent to Russian Troops Moving Through Country To Aid Czechoslovakia

GENEVA (AP) — Czechoslovakia was reported today to have received a Soviet Russian promise of support if Germany tried to seize Sudetenland, but to have found in Roumania a possible barrier to such aid.

Sources close to the Russian delegation to the League of Nations said Moscow had informed Prague that if Czechoslovakia would resist any German attack she would receive Soviet support.

Russia, however, was described as declaring she could not guarantee a means of getting Soviet men and munitions into Czechoslovakia, and the Roumanian government took the position she could not guarantee to permit Soviet troop movements through Roumania.

Both Poland and Roumania, separate Soviet Russia and Czechoslovakia, but Czechoslovakia took it for granted Poland would refuse to become a corridor for Russian troops and talked to the Roumanians.

A week ago Roumania was described as having assured Russia of a right-of-way for Soviet troops on their way to help Prague.

Today, however, Petrescu Comnen, Roumanian foreign minister, was said to have told Eduard Heidrich, Czechoslovak foreign minister, that the previous Roumanian promise had been given on the assumption that France would go to Czechoslovakia's aid.

He was reported to have declared that now the situation was changed and that if Russia alone defended Czechoslovakia, the Bucharest government could not guarantee permission for passage of Russia's forces.

Informed of Comnen's stand, Russians were said to have replied, in substance: "We are willing to help, but if Roumania refuses, how can we?"

PARIS (AP) — Diplomatic sources today said France had made clear to Czechoslovakia she would have to fight alone if she refused to accept the Franco-British proposal for giving Germany the Sudeten areas of Czechoslovakia.

Sources which kept closely informed of developments in the crisis said they learned Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet had left no doubt yesterday in the mind of the Czechoslovak minister to France, Stephan Osusky, that Great Britain would not fight for Czechoslovakia under any circumstances, and France would not fight without British support.

Division of the country into two opposed groups became more acute as France awaited tensely for the Czechoslovak answer to the Franco-British proposal for peace.

Despite M. Bonnet's warning to M. Osusky, the nature of the reply became more important as opposition became increasingly apparent to the plan which many called the "shame of France."

Some observers said that if the Czechs should decide to fight, pressure of public opinion might force France to go to her aid.

A growing strike movement in France, which today involved an estimated 175,000 workers, was lined to the "defence of Czechoslovakia" by the powerful central executive committee of Paris unions.

The Socialist Party called a meeting of its senators and deputies for tomorrow, under the presidency of former Premier Leon Blum, who described the peace plan as a surrender to an ultimatum from Hitler.

Czechs Would Lose Much By Partition

PRAGUE (AP) — In the proposed partition of Czechoslovakia a main cause of Czech concern is that a new frontier, with the German minority cities going to Germany, likely would take a heavy toll of industrial facilities.

Economic authorities estimated the loss of territory also would mean loss of:

Forty per cent of the textile industry—the republic's economic mainstay; 80 per cent of porcelain factories, 70 per cent of glass factories, 80 per cent of musical instrument factories, 100 per cent of glass and jewelry factories and most of the territory about Saaz, famous for its hops.

GERMAN REPORTS
BERLIN (AP) — The German official news agency today reported a steady series of Czechoslovak frontier clashes between Sudeten Germans and Czechoslovak detachments.

The reports were issued by the news agency with the regularity of clockwork.

They told of incident after incident in which Czech frontier detachments fired on deserting Sudeten soldiers, and also endangered civilian fugitives.

In one of the engagements, 17 German frontier guards were said to have been wounded. All the incidents occurred in the mountains on the Silesian side of the German-Czech frontier.

Reported Accepting Anglo-French Plan in Principle

RESERVATIONS

PRAGUE (AP) — The Czechoslovak government announced tonight it had delivered its reply to Great Britain and France on their proposals to end the European crisis and that it considered the way was left open to further "diplomatic negotiations."

The reply was handed here to the British and French ministers. The following communique was issued:

"The Czechoslovak government communicated this evening to the British and French ministers in Prague a note in which is set forth its attitude to proposals brought forward by the British and French governments."

"The attitude adopted makes possible further diplomatic negotiations in the spirit of conciliation which the Czechoslovak government had always shown."

RESERVATIONS
An unofficial but informed source said the note "is acceptance in principle but makes a number of important reservations."

The note replied to communications delivered Monday by the British and French ministers, embodying the agreement reached by the Premier of Great Britain and France in London Sunday.

London dispatches said the proposals included cession of Czechoslovakia's Sudeten areas to Germany and other terms.

The communique was issued as thousands of Czechoslovak troops were ordered on the alert in the Sudeten area.

Informed persons interpreted the Prague communique as showing the government's readiness to compromise on the Anglo-French proposals.

It was believed to bear out widespread predictions Czechoslovakia would neither accept nor reject the proposal to slice off her Sudeten areas at the behest of Reichsfuehrer Hitler, but would take the position that the Anglo-French plan was useful as a basis for further discussion.

Anti-aircraft gun crews around the President's palace and government buildings kept watch for possible enemy bombers.

RUSSIAN VIEW
MOSCOW (AP) — Reports the Czechoslovak government was inclined to accept the Chamberlain-Daladier peace plan as a basis for discussion were received calmly in Moscow today.

No official statement of Soviet Russia's position on the Czechoslovak crisis has been issued yet, but in Soviet circles it was observed the post-war republic—in fact, the whole post-war European status—was created by Great Britain, France and other powers without consulting Moscow.

If Czechoslovakia's creators now decline to defend their creation, it was said, it should hardly be expected Soviet Russia alone would do it for them.

CLASHES ALONG CZECH BORDER

Number Wounded in Frontier Incidents While Diplomats Spar

PRAGUE (AP) — Three attacks on Czechoslovak frontier customs houses by bands of men who were said to have crossed the border from Germany armed with machine guns, hand grenades and pistols were reported today by the Czechoslovak government.

The customs house at Klein-Aupa, near Aussig, was reported burned after being wrecked by a barrage of hand grenades. Two Czech officials were wounded.

At Ebersdorf, near Friedland, government reports said, men who had crossed the border shortly before dawn occupied the customs house for a time and broke into and took possession of the post office.

HUNGARIAN CLAIMS
Poland and Hungary, meanwhile, were disclosed to have lodged claims with Great Britain for their own minorities in Czechoslovakia before the British and French ministries yesterday adopted their plan for giving the Sudeten areas to Germany.

Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary, was reported on his way to Germany to get the aid of Hitler in settling Hungary's dispute with Czechoslovakia over the 700,000 Hungarian minority there.

Some observers feared a deal between Horthy and Hitler, in which Hitler would help Horthy get the Magyar minority of Czechoslovakia in return for support of a Nazi campaign in Roumania for its food and oil.

Grain Probe in Vancouver Soon

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. Lyle Telford, M.P. for Vancouver East, said yesterday he had been informed by F. B. Ramsay, chief grain commissioner, that the Board of Grain Commissioners would hold a special meeting here late in October.

The meeting will be to investigate charges made by Dr. Telford on July 22 before the Tariff Board in connection with handling of screenings in Vancouver elevators, he said.

The Vancouver East member also said he had been assured by Hon. W. E. Alessette, British Columbia Minister of Trade and Commerce that the commission would investigate western grain shipments.

He charged that private grain interests preferred to have grain shipped through private elevators in eastern Canada rather than through publicly owned and operated elevators in British Columbia.

Measles is so contagious that any one who has never had the disease is almost sure to take it, if exposed.

Soviet Press Denounces Plan

Pravda Calls Proposal For Czechs Perfidious and Hypocritical

MOSCOW (AP)—Unqualified condemnation of the Anglo-French plan for the partition of Czechoslovakia was heard today in Moscow. The Soviet press denounced the project as perfidious, hypocritical and a new step toward a world war disguised as a contribution to peace.

Pravda, Communist Party organ, said Chancellor Hitler first tried to capture the Sudeten territory through an armed revolt led by Konrad Henlein, Sudeten German Party leader. When that failed he turned to Prime Minister Chamberlain of Great Britain, who "obligingly hastened" to Berchtesgaden to help the Fuehrer.

It was not thought necessary, Pravda said, to discuss fundamentals at Berchtesgaden last Thursday since Hitler and Chamberlain were hand in glove.

Instead, the newspaper said, "Great attention was paid to a procedure such as:

"Is it necessary to annex the whole Sudeten area immediately or piece by piece—under the banner of a plebiscite or without a plebiscite—whether it would be better to deprive Czechoslovakia of its independence through neutralization or through some form of such suppressive agreement with Fascist Germany."

IZVESTIA'S ANALYSIS

The government organ Izvestia printed an analysis of the new situation by its Geneva correspondent, who wrote of the "liquidation of French influence in Europe."

The newspaper observed that while it would be hard to find any historical precedent for "the trip of the British Prime Minister to Berchtesgaden to worship the head of another state," and still harder to find anything "quite as raw as the Anglo-French decision to dismember Czechoslovakia," the British willingness to bargain with Chancellor Hitler was not in itself surprising.

"Nothing else was to be expected from England," Izvestia continued, "but for France such object capitulation represents a danger more obvious, more tangible and more terrible."

After all, the paper argued, Great Britain was not tied to Czechoslovakia by a treaty of mutual assistance.

France, it said, is an ally of Czechoslovakia, "yet the French government not only advises Prague to commit suicide, but also through its newspapers intimates that in case Czechoslovakia refuses to commit suicide it will be abandoned to its fate."

"One can imagine what Yugoslavia, Roumania and others will think of French promises now."

Concession Is Called Defeat

New York Times Says Collective Security Ended By Czech Crisis

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Times today stated that if reports of the terms the British and French governments have sent to Prague as a settlement of the Czechoslovak-German crisis are correct, "one thing can be said with certainty—this is the end of the whole system of collective security built up in the post war treaties."

"It is an end of that system," the paper said, "because a demonstration will have been given, in the very heart of Europe, before the eyes of all the world and in a manner which leaves no possible room for doubt, that force alone is the determining factor in the relationship of nations."

"This is not to say that collective security is dead beyond recall. The time will come when men and nations everywhere will have to think of it again, to plan for it again, to work to make it a reality."

The New York Herald-Tribune called the reported plan a "completely humiliating defeat" accepted by "two great democracies, commanding an overwhelming superiority of resources and of armed power."

"When it comes to the crisis the dictator who is able and willing to condemn his peoples to the fires of war cannot be opposed by democratic statesmen who are not," the paper said.

BLUM OUTSPOKEN ON CZECH PLAN

French Ex-Premier Writes He Is Divided Between Relief and Shame

PARIS (AP)—As if aware for the first time of the full implication of the Daladier government's action, on the Anglo-French plan for Czechoslovakia which means virtual discard of the French treaty with Prague, spoke of "national shame," or sought to put responsibility on Great Britain.

Leon Blum said he felt himself divided "between coward relief and shame" and wrote in his newspaper, Le Populaire, that "Chamberlain, who went to negotiate an honorable and fair arrangement, returned from Berchtesgaden carrying an ultimatum from the Fuehrer-Chancellor. The British government gave way to that ultimatum."

The rightist Le Petit Bleu said, "All Frenchmen were and are in agreement to avoid war. But no one thought England was going to use our will for peace with such ignorance of European geography, historical laws, German psychology."

Le Matin "It would appear the automobile which came to take Chamberlain last Thursday to Berchtesgaden was the one which carried the unhappy Chancellor von Schuschnigg (of Austria) last March."

Hope for Stronger Czech Nation

Cession of Sudeten Might Mean That, Says London Times

LONDON (CP)—Dealing with the Czech issue, the Times, London, Independent, said today:

"It cannot really be in the interests of the (Czechoslovak) republic, one would suppose, to keep the Sudeten Germans as subjects of a state which for the most part they cordially dislike."

"The hope of those who lay these (assumed) proposals before the Czechoslovak government will certainly be that they would leave Czechoslovakia, though small in size, stronger by being made more nearly homogeneous."

"It is obvious that no country can regard with equanimity the prospective loss of over 2,000,000 inhabitants, which is what the departure of the minorities would approximately involve for Czechoslovakia. Yet the remaining 12,000,000 or 13,000,000 of Czechs, Slovaks and others would still form a state with a more numerous population than that of Switzerland, Belgium, Holland or Denmark."

"It would still be a well organized and well armed country, supported by an international guarantee of independence which is understood to be a part of the present plan."

Anxiety over possible further demands by Chancellor Hitler, even if he gets what he wants in Czechoslovakia was voiced today by the Yorkshire Post, Conservative.

"The people of this country," said the Post, "will surely require very convincing evidence to persuade them that we and France, as a result of these concessions, are not in a short time to be presented by the dictators with still further and even more immediately compelling demands which we shall be even less well placed to resist. We cannot forget Herr Hitler's definite policy is to proceed on the assumption he will always get exactly what he demands, because, unlike the democracies, he is always prepared to take the risk of war."

The Manchester Guardian, Liberal, remarked outright cession of the Sudeten territory to Germany would mean a more thoroughly-going surrender to Hitler than a plebiscite.

LET DOWN

The Liverpool Post, Liberal, regarded the dismemberment proposal dubiously, declaring: "It looks too much like a victory for ruthless dictatorship for our comfort and there cannot but be widespread feeling that even if we have no commitments we have in some way let a little country down."

TWO MEN DEAD AFTER MASSACHUSETTS CRASH

EAST DEERFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Two members of the train crew were killed and two others injured today when the engine and four cars of a 76-car Boston and Maine freight train were derailed.

Fatally injured were Fireman C. G. Bixby and Brakemen C. E. Whitehead, both of Springfield. Engineer W. F. Christian of West Springfield suffered extensive burns. Brakeman Albert Towne of Springfield was less seriously hurt.

"Cause of the accident was not determined."

Toronto Backs Chamberlain

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto city council passed a vote of confidence in Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and his colleagues of the British cabinet yesterday with only two votes against the resolution. Alderman Stewart Smith and Alderman J. B. Salsberg, both among leaders of the Communist Party in Toronto, voted against the resolution.

LAST WAR SETTLED NOTHING

NANAIMO (CP)—The present disturbed world situation is simply "a continuation of the struggle between rival imperialist groups which resulted in the Great War," in the opinion of M. J. Coldwell, M.P. for Rosetown-Biggan, Sask., and national chairman of the C.C.F. Party.

"In 1914 no nation wanted war, but none of them could achieve their object without it," Mr. Coldwell said, in addressing a public meeting here. "The war settled nothing, and the resultant treaty took Germany's colonies from her, stripped her of rich coal fields, destroyed her navy and merchant marine, and inflicted an indemnity which her enemies knew she could never pay. Its object was to destroy Germany permanently as a great military and commercial power."

CANADA MUST DECIDE

NORTH BATTLEFORD (CP)—Isolation for Canada, Mr. Justice A. K. Dymally of the Manitoba Court of King's Bench said here last night before the men's and women's Canadian Clubs of the Battlefords on the problems which confront Canadians in their quest for national unity.

Canadians must decide, sooner or later, their national attitude toward world affairs, the speaker stated, but before they could reach anything like a unanimous decision, the country must integrate and co-ordinate the various sectional interests which were now working at cross purposes against each other.

U.S. AND CANADA

TORONTO (CP)—Sir Alfred Morine, former Newfoundland cabinet minister, told a fraternal organization dinner meeting last night, military aid from the United States, as promised recently by President Roosevelt, would place Canada under direct control of Washington and lead to assimilation of Canada by the United States.

FUEHRER TALKS WITH HUNGARIANS

Self-determination For Group in Czechoslovakia Debated; Also Hears Poles

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany (AP)—Envoys of Hungary and Poland were received by Chancellor Hitler in his retreat on Obersalzberg to discuss the Czechoslovak crisis.

The Hungarian chief of staff, Field Marshal Kresztes-Fischer, sat with Premier Bela Imredy and Foreign Minister Koloman von Kanya during their talk with Hitler and the German foreign minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop "regarding the untenable condition in Czechoslovakia."

Meanwhile, Admiral Nicholas Horthy, Regent of Hungary, was at Alt Stenberg, East Prussia, as a guest of Field Marshal Hermann Goerring. The German official news agency said Horthy was spending a few days with Goerring, who had recovered from a recent illness.

Poland's views were presented to Hitler by Joseph Lipski, Polish ambassador to Germany, at another conference.

It was officially announced the Hungarian statesmen had told Hitler they would stand firm for the right of self-determination for the 700,000 Hungarians in Czechoslovakia.

It was understood the Polish ambassador discussed plans for dealing with the Polish minority of about 100,000.

TRAVEL BY PLANE

The fact that Imredy and Von Kanya were accompanied by the chief of staff added to the ominous character of their sudden flight from Budapest to Obersalzberg, where only last Thursday the Fuehrer received Prime Minister Chamberlain.

A communique said: "The Hungarian Minister President Imredy, Foreign Minister von Kanya, the general staff chief, Field Marshal Kresztes-Fischer, and State Secretary von Pataky visited the Fuehrer and Reich Chancellor in the presence of Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop at Obersalzberg."

"The visit served for an interchange of views regarding the untenable condition in Czechoslovakia."

"Whereas the Fuehrer and Reichschancellor dealt with the German problem, the Hungarian ministers explained thoroughly the equally steadfast and immutable demand of their oppressed co-nationals in Czechoslovakia."

ENCIRCLEMENT

Hitler tonight appeared in the position of arbiter of Czechoslovakia's fate.

The presence of the Hungarian chief of staff raised at least the possibility of a military encirclement of the little republic, especially if Poland agrees to such action.

Only a day or two ago both Poland and Hungary seemed to be on the fence.

Now, however, since Hitler has won a victory of prestige over the British and French premiers, there seems to be a rush to get on the loaded bandwagon.

Hitler has not stirred from Berghof since Prime Minister Chamberlain telegraphed him six days ago that he wanted to come to see him.

He merely has sat tight and events have been coming his way. Observers here believe that when the cards are dealt at Godesberg—where Hitler and Chamberlain may meet again tomorrow—Hitler would hold most of the trumps.

BUDAPEST (AP)—Premier Bela Imredy, back from a conference with Chancellor Hitler, declared tonight that Hungary, "with all the means at her disposal, will defend and support the Hungarians in Czechoslovakia in their fight to obtain self-determination."

A German airliner which Hitler supplied the Hungarian delegation for the trip to his retreat in the Bavarian Alps brought them back at 6:30 p.m. Imredy said he and the Fuehrer had discussed the whole Czechoslovak problem in detail.

Italy Warlike, Says Il Duce

UDINE, Italy (AP)—Premier Mussolini declared tonight it was time "the world became acquainted with this new, warlike and determined Italy."

This statement followed a comparison of Italy today with the Italy of 16 years ago, when he last spoke in Udine on the eve of the Fascist march on Rome to assume power.

A huge throng cheered Il Duce in the square before Udine's 16th century city hall, from the balcony of which he delivered his second major address on the current European crisis within three days.

He had come to Udine in the course of a tour of regions involved in Italy's part of the World War.

"The last time I was here we started the march on Rome," Il Duce declared.

"Then we started the march from Rome, but it has not yet been finished."

"Nobody will stop us."

Il Duce lauded the martial and moral strength of Fascist Italy.

LOOK TO TOMORROW

"If tomorrow this people should be called again to another task it would not hesitate for a minute," the Premier declared.

"Subito!"—"Immediately!"—the crowd roared back.

Mussolini's words had been awaited anxiously for his reaction to the latest developments in the Czechoslovak crisis.

He avoided any direct reference to the central European situation, however, not even mentioning his previously pronounced views on minority problems.

GORITZA, Italy (AP)—Premier Mussolini today declared all Italy is ready to face "drama" if necessary and his hearers believed he meant war.

The Duce spoke briefly at Gorizia in the course of a tour of the Great War battle regions on his way to Udine, where he was scheduled to make a more extensive address later in the day.

"In case there should be drama," he told a crowd which had gathered at Gorizia to hail him, "We will face it."

"I have spoken clearly," the premier said, referring to the speech he made at Trieste Sunday in which he said Italy's "place has been chosen" in case of war. Fascist spokesmen have said that place would be with Germany.

"Therefore it is useless to repeat for the sake of those who pretend not to hear," he went on here. "There is some sign now of clearing on the horizon, but as we Fascists always have been against premature and untimely optimism, so before pronouncing ourselves we wait for the curtain to be lowered and all the acts to be played."

British Opinion Splits on Plan

By J. F. SANDERSON (Canadian Press Staff Writer)

LONDON — A cleavage in public opinion over the Anglo-French peace plan involving dismemberment of Czechoslovakia began to be apparent today.

The National Council of Labor has called a meeting of the International Federation of Trade Unions and of the Socialist International, at which French delegates will be present. It is understood the purpose of the meeting is to determine whether the British and French labor movements are prepared to apply the full pressure of their political and industrial forces against their governments in an effort to force them to defend Czechoslovakia against Germany.

Meanwhile, the voice of Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, champion of peace and collective security, has been raised. In a letter to the London Daily Telegraph, he says:

"The submission to Hitler means the extinction of Czechoslovak independence. It means a breach of our treaty pledges on the subject. It means a great increase in the prestige of the Nazi government and a corresponding diminution of that of this country. Above all, it means acceptance of the view that the only thing that counts in international affairs is brutal force and that the hope of substituting for it reason and justice may be definitely abandoned."

Writing in the London News Chronicle, A. J. Cummings, who attended the Ottawa Imperial Conference, said that so intense is the horror of war in the country "that the British people would acquiesce, however reluctantly, in the surrender to Nazi ambitions and the surgical operation on Hitler's latest victim—if they could be persuaded it would preserve peace, that it would work and that it would lead to a general settlement in Europe."

"But," asks Mr. Cummings, "What hope can the western powers give us that the surrender will accomplish its ultimate purpose?"

CHINESE FACE OPIUM COUNTS

VANCOUVER (CP)—The crown's long case against five alleged Chinese opium traffickers was in its fourth stage here today with the men on trial for opium possession March 11, 1937.

It is the third time Gordon Lim, Wong Ying, Chan Sing Jung, Lee Hoy and Lum Hoo have been on trial on that particular charge, but it is their fourth assize court hearing on a narcotics charge in the last year. The current trial opened yesterday.

Last January the five were sentenced to seven years' imprisonment on a drug conspiracy charge while Chan Sing Jung and Lee Hoy were also found guilty of selling opium and given concurrent sentences of seven years with fines of $1,000 and $500, respectively.

Labor Calls Plan Betrayal

LONDON (CPHavas)—The National Council of Labor met in special session last night and heard Rt. Hon. Clement Attlee, leader of the Labor Opposition in the House of Commons, and Rt. Hon. Arthur Greenwood, Labor front bench, report on results of their meeting a short time previously with Prime Minister Chamberlain.

The following statement was issued when the meeting adjourned:

"The National Council of Labor, earnestly desirous of maintaining peace, views with dismay the reported proposals by the British and French governments for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia under the brutal threat of armed force by Nazi Germany, without prior consultation with the Czechoslovak government."

"It declares that this is a shameful betrayal of a peaceful and democratic people and constitutes a dangerous precedent for the future."

"The National Council of Labor expresses its profound sympathy with Czechoslovak people in the previous anxieties through which they are now passing. It reaffirms its conviction that enduring peace can be secured only by the establishment of the rule of law ending the use of lawless force in international relations."

The National Labor Council is composed of the general council of the Trades Union Congress, representing Britain's 5,000,000 organized workers, and the executives of the Labor Party and the Parliamentary Labor group.

GERMAN PRESS FOR PARTITION

See Division of Czechoslovakia As Only Solution Of Crisis Now

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER Associated Press Foreign Staff
BERLIN — The controlled German press took the stand amid reports of clashes along the German-Czechoslovak border today that partition of Czechoslovakia is now the only solution of the Sudeten-German Czechoslovak crisis.

Only a few days ago the press limited itself to discussion of possible methods of lopping off the Sudeten region of Czechoslovakia.

In German eyes today, however, Sudetenland is already Germany's indubitable heritage, the region west of the Olza River is Poland's and eastern Czechoslovakia, centring around Bratislava, is Hungary's.

A Foreign Office spokesman declared every day a solution is put off, Chancellor Hitler's price will be higher, and added every German killed during border incidents is being chalked up against the Czechs.

Woman Dies From Crash Injuries

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mrs. H. B. Cambie, 53, wife of a retired manager of the Bank of Montreal at Chilliwack, B.C., died early today in a hospital where he was being treated for injuries suffered in an automobile accident September 14.

Mrs. Cambie suffered fractures of ribs and one arm when automobile driven by her husband was in collision with two cars at a street intersection here. Nobody else was injured.

An inquest has been ordered for Wednesday.

Two Correspondents Held in Dresden

LONDON (CP)—Reuters news agency reported from Berlin early today that Kenneth Anderson, Reuters correspondent, and Melvin K. Whiteleather, Associated Press correspondent, were arrested in Dresden last night while attending a Sudeten German mass meeting. They were released after an hour. No reasons were given for their arrest.

Arctic Patrol Ship Returns

Nascope Back at Halifax After Sailing Canada's North Fringe

By MALCOLM MACLEOD Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX (CP)—R.M.S. Nascope poked her scarred nose into dock in Halifax Harbor last night and completed another chapter in her sagas of the seas around Canada's northern fringe. Since leaving Montreal late in June, the steamer and her party of seamen, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, government scientists and passengers covered more than 11,000 miles around the Arctic archipelago, Hudson Strait and Hudson Bay.

The distance covered was the greatest since the annual summer patrol was inaugurated in 1922. The time in relation to distance covered was the shortest, and weather conditions generally were the best.

Major D. L. McKeand, leader of the government party, said the Eskimos were well and prosperous because of a fur year that was generally good, although not at the top of the cycle.

For the first time, His Majesty's mail carried letters in the native tongue from natives to other natives.

Superintendent T. B. Caulkin, commanding G. division of the R.C.M.P., joined the patrol ship at Churchill, Man., after touring the Mackenzie and Coppermine area. His visit to the eastern Arctic marked the first occasion on which one officer had inspected both the western and eastern Arctic in the same summer.

Dr. Keith Rogers, government medical officer of the party, said during the voyage he had gathered information which would be helpful in treating medical problems among the Eskimos.

Several mineralized areas in Canada's northern quadrant were examined by D. A. Nichols, the government geologist. He also studied the physiography of the Lake Harbor coastal region and Baffin Island, adding information to geographical knowledge of the district. Additions were made to the rock, mineral and fossil collections from the eastern Arctic archipelago, while new data on stone and whale-bone ruins and prehistoric Eskimo relics was obtained for the national museum. Nichols' report said the relation of the ruins to

POISONING TRACED

CHICAGO (AP)—The reporting of 35 new cases of a mysterious poisoning spurred health department chemists and bacteriologists today in their search for the origin of a malady that has caused one death and illness to 103 persons.

Virtually all the victims lived in Elmwood Park, a west side suburb, and adjacent areas. Many reported they were seized with the illness after eating a pastry purchased in the neighborhood.

Health authorities said the new cases started last week and there was no evidence the outbreak was continuing.

ALL THAT IS LEFT OF BIG AIRLINER—Just after landing from her final test flight, the huge British airliner Albatross broke in two on the ground at Hatfield, Hertfordshire, fortunately without injuring Capt. Geoffrey de Havilland, chief test pilot for the builders, and an Air Ministry official who were on board. The photo shows the forward half of the big plane being towed away after the mishap.

Olympic Plan More Scenic Drives

PORT ANGELES — With the advent of the new Olympic National Park, The Olympics Inc., non-commercial state development organization, see great possibilities resulting from the early construction of a network of "scenic drives" and a group of "rhododendron flower lanes," encircling the national park, that will supplement all booster activities of the Northwest and create a scenic area which, in 10 years, would rank second to none in the world. It was pointed out by them that this proposed development, if carried out properly, would return millions of dollars, in excess of the cost, to the State of Washington annually, and would enhance the value of other state projects under way or proposed.

Trustees of this development group are making periodical tours around the peninsula and its famed waterways, surveying public sentiment upon the question of such highway construction and determining the degree of inaccessibility of the most scenic areas that could entice well-to-do tourists and settlers.

MacAllister Moore of Gig Harbor, trustee, and A. P. Carroll, manager, have just completed a four-day tour of the Olympic loop, accompanied by Mr. Moore's father, who was a resident of Washington, D.C., for many years. They report many recent improvements in the peninsula highways, and paid tribute to the highways, parks and other state departments for the great work being accomplished. They were particularly pleased to note that a start had been made in clearing and leveling the ocean side of the loop highway between Queets and Ruby Beach, giving all visitors many sweeping views of the Pacific Ocean and its beautiful shoreline. In many logged-off areas the young trees lining the highways have grown to such a height that they now cover the vast areas of stumps and waste so noticeable in the past.

Trustees Moore and Carroll presented their programs before the Port Townsend Chamber of Commerce, Olympic Conservation Association, Sequim Kiwanis Club of Port Angeles, Thurston County Poggie Club, Olympia, and North Kitsap Sportsmen's Association at Port Gamble.

Chamber of Commerce and civic leaders were also interviewed at Port Angeles, Quinalt, Hoquiam, Aberdeen, Nonwese and Elma.

League Delegates Honor Buchman

GENEVA — A voice from the storm centre of Europe brought a message of hope today to statesmen, diplomats and League of Nations delegates, when a Sudeten German addressing 500 luncheon guests from 53 countries, including France, Germany, England and Czechoslovakia, outlined the constructive part minorities can play as bridge builders among nations.

Twenty-seven Canadians, including almost all the Canadian delegates to the League, attended the luncheon at the Hotel Berge, given by the Hon. W. J. Jordan, president of the council of the League, and Hon. C. J. Hambro, president of the Norwegian Parliament, Dr. J. N. Patju, the Dutch Foreign Minister, and M. V. V. Palla, Roumanian minister at the Hague, in honor of Dr. Frank Buchman and the international team of the Oxford Group.

Baron Eugene von Teuber, a Sudeten German, whose uncle is a leader of the Sudeten-Deutsch Party, explained how, through the spirit of the Oxford Group, he had found the answer to his deep resentments and the need of applying these principles to all national issues. "Could not the whole prestige of all statesmen here be mobilized for moral rearmament which, I am convinced, is the only mediator which can lead us in Czechoslovakia and the world generally to lasting peace," he concluded amid tremendous applause.

In introducing a dozen speakers, Dr. Hambro outlined the task of the Oxford Group during Geneva and the purpose of the luncheon. "In this hour of great apprehension and fear it is of vital importance to meet a strength such as the Oxford Group because these men and women have succeeded in the fundamental things where we have failed," he said. "They have created that constructive peace which we have been seeking for years. They have the secret that we are missing here, and we want that secret."

Dr. Patju told how, through the application of the principles of the Oxford Group in diplomacy, a dispute between his country and another, which had been taken before the Permanent Court of International Justice, had been settled and resulted in a new spirit between the two nations. "It is necessary," he said, "in these critical days, that all people who are carrying responsibility be guided by God, not by personal feelings."

Leaders from the Far East in the persons of Bishop Logan H. Roots of Hankow, China, and Dr. J. G. Kasai, a member of the Japanese Imperial Diet, expressed the conviction that a moral rearmament program formed the only basis on which China and Japan could find reconciliation, and concluded by each reading cables from their own government leaders, the Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai Shek and Prince Konoye, the Prime Minister of Japan. Other speakers were M. V. V. Palla and Madame Camperio, founder of the Italian Women's Red Cross.

Trustees Hear Works Tenders

Communist Aldermen Dissent; Other Canadian Reaction

Tenders for various works to be undertaken by the City School Board in the near future were considered at a special meeting last night.

Bids to construct a covered walk between the Central Junior High School buildings were turned down because the trustees felt they were too high. The supervisor of works was instructed to proceed with the work at a cost not to exceed $782.

Tenders for the wiring and lighting of the girls' gymnasium at the Central Junior High and for the installation of a new boiler were referred to the building and grounds committee.

It is estimated the new boiler will cost about $1,000, and the board will apply to the council for an extraordinary estimate to cover this cost.

The G-men's collection of fingerprints at the Department of Justice has grown from 800,000 prints in 1924 to 9,000,000 today.

Canada Takes No Chance on League Delegates

Instruction Books Tell Them What To Do Even Where to Drink

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD
OTTAWA—Canada has sent a delegation of hand-picked Parliamentarians to the League of Nations meeting at Geneva, but it is leaving nothing either to chance or to their own good judgment.

When Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, who is heading the party, left Parliament Hill he took with him copies of a book of printed instructions to be placed in the hands of every member.

Everything that the delegates are to do, including how they are to vote on every question, and the places at which they may sip their afternoon tea or enjoy a cocktail before dinner, is set down for them in this little book.

The Canadian statesmen, in other words, are being thoughtfully protected by the government here against any risk of contracting their international malady known as Geneva headache. The main strain for them—apart from the risk of seasickness—will not be on their brains. It will be on the seat of their pants—there and on their thumb and index fingers which they will use leafing through their book for instructions every time a vote occurs.

RESULTS KNOWN BEFOREHAND

Once it is demonstrated that the Canadian tweeds are going to survive the friction of the Geneva cushions, and once their thumbs and index fingers get sufficiently calloused to turn the pages of their little books rapidly without pain, the worries of the Dominion's diplomats will be at an end, and they will be able to enjoy the novel experience of being statesmen on a world stage. With this arrangement in force, the story of what the Canadian delegation at this year's historic Geneva assembly really did can now be told—even before it happens.

The most important question which is scheduled to come before the present month's assembly is the report of the committee which has been considering the question of revising the League Covenant. The issue is whether or not the Covenant shall be watered down by the deletion of the reciprocal commitments to which it theoretically binds member nations in the event of one of them facing aggression. In practice, it has been demonstrated that the Covenant in its existing terms cannot be enforced. There is a strong school of thought which contends, however, that rather than recognize this immediate reality, it is desirable to leave on paper an arrangement in the direction of which public opinion throughout the world is held to be steadily tending. There is a growing realization among peace-loving nations, League of Nations circles believe, that the alternative which must be face in the near future is war or collective security.

NO SCUTTLE NOR SAVING

The League circles which hold this view contend that world opinion is rapidly approaching a frame of mind in which it will be prepared to accept and live up to the existing terms of the Covenant. To dilute the Covenant at the present stage in the interests of abstract and dogmatic realism would be equivalent, these League circles consider, to scuttling the League.

Well, the Canadian delegates are not going to assist in scuttling the League. But neither—if such should be the will of the majority of other nations—are they going to raise a little finger to save it. Their little books have instructed them to spend the time that this vote is being taken in seeing the sights of Geneva or in getting caught up on the shut-eye on which their intensive labors may have caused them to run short by that time in their hotels. At any rate, they are to absent themselves from the voting.

The instruction, while hardly courageous, is likely to be favorably received by League circles.

in the Dominion. Canadian Governments consistently have held that the country should not be bound by blind commitments in the international powder magazine which is Europe. That the Canadian delegates at least are not going to assist the movement to weaken the League Covenant will be rather surprising, but welcome news, consequently, for those in the Dominion who still retain faith in Geneva.

EVEN PARTYING RESTRICTED

The social side of the League Assembly is no less cut-and-dried for the Canadian delegates than is their action on the diplomatic issues which are scheduled to arise. The little books stipulate that the Canadians must not accept any invitations from Soviet Russia. The general rule in that case is that they must not accept hospitality offered by any country which is not a member of the League except the United States. For some reason more difficult to understand, further more, the ban is also extended to Poland. It will be just too bad for the Canadians if the hospitable Poles should decide to stage a champagne and caviar party in their honor, for they would have to refuse the kind invitation.

It is undoubtedly just as well that some inhibitions are placed in the way of the delegates, for past experience has demonstrated that Geneva hospitality is of a formidable variety. As matters stand, Parliament Hill looks forward to seeing Canada's delegation come through this year's League ordeal with the minimum of wear-and-tear—mentally and otherwise.

EVERYBODY gets a prize!

Have you ever attended a "Treasure Hunt" and raced frantically all over the neighborhood searching for cleverly hidden clues? It's fun, but only the fastest win the prizes.

But there's another "Treasure Hunt" run every day where everybody wins! It's in the newspaper you are reading now. The clues aren't hidden or in code — they're made easy for you! The advertisements in this paper are the clues — and they lead you directly to prizes you choose yourself.

Perhaps you want a toaster or a pair of shoes or a certain kind of soap. Look over the advertising clues till you find what you want at the price you can afford to pay. Without the ads, you'd have to Treasure Hunt all over town, from store to store, from counter to counter, to find just what you want. You can save lots of time and money by getting your clues from the advertising columns.

Swinging The Carver

ANOTHER MEETING BETWEEN PRIME Minister Chamberlain and Reichsfuehrer Hitler is expected to take place tomorrow. It should then be possible to learn what the two great democracies propose to do with Czechoslovakia. As already mentioned in these columns, the first part of the "new deal" seems to be to recommend to the Prague government that it agree to cede Sudetenland to Greater Germany. That is expected to remove from the war-born republic something like 3,500,000 German-speaking citizens, 40 per cent of the country's textile industry, 80 per cent of its porcelain factories, 70 per cent of its glass factories, 80 per cent of its musical instrument factories, 100 per cent of its glass and jewelry establishments, and a good deal of the territory famous for its hops. As if this were not sufficient for the government at Prague to ponder, today's advice are that Poland and Hungary have dropped more than a hint to Great Britain that now would be a good time for Mr. Chamberlain to give thought to their minority citizenry in Czechoslovakia while the partition knife is out of the international cutlery drawer, and the carving is about to begin.

While everybody—especially the people of the United Kingdom and the Empire generally—wants no more war, while limits must be stretched to preserve the peace, a not inconsiderable section of the public of the British Isles is beginning to show resentment toward the job that is about to be done on the political and territorial integrity of Czechoslovakia, the last remaining bulwark of democracy in central Europe. In a letter to the London Daily Telegraph today Viscount Cecil says in part: "The submission to Hitler... means a great increase in the prestige of the Nazi government and a corresponding diminution of that of this country. Above all, it means acceptance of the view that the only thing that counts in international affairs is brutal force, and that the hope of substituting it for reason and justice may be definitely abandoned." Putting it in another way, Mr. A. J. Cumming, who attended the Ottawa Conference, writes in the London News-Chronicle that so intense is the horror of war in the country "that the British people would acquiesce, however reluctantly, in the surrender to Nazi ambitions and the surgical operation on Hitler's latest victim—if it could be assured it would preserve peace, that it would work, and that it would lead to a general settlement in Europe." But Mr. Cumming wants to know what everybody else would like to know: "What hope can the western powers give us that the surrender will accomplish its ultimate purpose?"

The tragic point about this whole ghastly business is that Great Britain, in her wisdom and through statesmen who are at present in charge of her affairs, has been dealing for months with the High Priests of International Blackmail. Not satisfied with the peculiar form of "absent treatment" which effectively—for the time being—"liquidated" Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, the gentlemen ruling at Berlin and Rome have gradually increased their exactions and have found it has paid them well. But there is one difference in principle between the blackmail on the grand scale and the village extortionist who preys incessantly on his victims until his bluff is called? The calling of the bluff, of course, may be uncomfortable and costly, but it usually has the benefit of moral right on its side.

Russia and Italy

IF A REPORT FROM GENEVA CAN BE taken as authentic, Russia is not contemplating active intervention in support of Czechoslovakia. Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff merely intimating that the Moscow government is doing everything possible to stiffen the British and French attitude toward Germany. "We can do no more for the present," the Soviet authorities are believed to have said to Prague, "now, it is up to you." One prominent Czech added: "Moscow has too many irons in the fire to take on another for us." Slovak officials at Geneva were no less pessimistic about the feelings of what they described as "their last hope."

On the other hand—presumably to emphasize the apparent hopelessness of Czechoslovakia's cause in the light of the Anglo-French contribution to Hitler's partition plan—Premier Mussolini released a little more of his megalomaniacal bile today at Gorizia. Said this partner of the Anglo-Italian "friendship" pact: "In case there should be drama, we will face it. I have spoken clearly" (referring to his chin and chest expansion at Trieste on Sunday during which he interlarded physical contortions with the statement that Italy's "place has been chosen" in case of war). Then of his country's willingness to face "drama" II Duce regaled Gorizians with this: "It is useless to repeat for the sake of those who pretend not to hear. There is some sign now of clearing on the horizon, but as we Fascists always have been against premature and untimely optimism, so before pronounce-ing ourselves we wait for the curtain to be lowered on all the acts to be played."

All will note who think it worth while to note what the present head of the Italian totalitarian state has said. He will wait, of course, because his country's record does not encourage him to do otherwise. His brother "in axis" has not forgotten that Italy "sold out" her two partners in the Triple Alliance in the early spring of 1915. Reichsfuehrer Hitler also recalls, without being in the least impressed, that Italian soldiery, aided by modern fighting paraphernalia, by no means covered themselves with "glory" in Ethiopia, while up against more even terms in Spain their participation on Fascist General Franco's behalf has been more marked by defeat than by victory.

Although, however, Russia's hesitancy actively to commit herself in the Czechoslovakian business can hardly be considered to make up for Italian preference for "drama" to cold steel, it is fairly safe to say that the Nazi head of Greater Germany will not go out of his way to put himself under any more obligation to II Duce than the moral—a much-labelled word—engagement as a signatory to the Rome-Berlin axis involves. He and Mussolini may be on opposite sides one of these days.

Why Editors Get Grey

THESE ARE DAYS OF FAST MOVES. For instance, one of the latest issues of the Winnipeg Free Press to reach us says in its leading editorial:

"Hitler has been checked by a combination of circumstances. He has learned that France and Russia were prepared to honor their pledges to Czechoslovakia. But he has learned as well—and probably both to his surprise and indignation—that Great Britain would also throw herself with all her strength into the conflict that would follow any invasion of Czechoslovakia frontiers. Great Britain, when the pinch came, made it abundantly clear that she was not prepared at this time to tolerate aggression. It has therefore been Great Britain's fate, in this hour of crisis, to assume that role of leadership in Europe which her wealth, her power and her history alike impose upon her. But the obligation thus assumed during these last few days is not one which she can in the future lay down with out dishonor."

By the time we on this coast were able to read the foregoing, the two western powers the Free Press praises for honoring their pledges and resisting aggression had decided to present Czechoslovakia on a platter to Germany, with carving knife and fork all sharpened.

Our ourselves on Saturday carried a last-minute cable from London headed: "France Firmer for Czechs: Stiffening of French Attitude on Sudeten Seen." Even while our presses were running off this news, the Paris papers were setting their Sunday editorials calling for a reversal of the former French position and the treating of the agreement to come to the defence of Czechoslovakia as a "scrap of paper."

Newspapermen have prided themselves on their ability to step fast. But they are no match for international politicians when they begin to shuffle.

Now that school days have returned in earnest, father is upbraiding himself for not having brushed up on his fractions.

Japanese fliers recently fired on a Chinese-German plane, thereby raising such a confusing question that everybody had to ignore it.

Some gentlemen at the International Labor Office at Geneva announce their discovery that in many countries living is much cheaper than it was a few years ago. Life is, too.

As the Oregonian suggests, Mr. Chamberlain's journey to Berchtesgaden now appears to have been quite unnecessary. All that was needed was a two-word telegram to Hitler: "Help yourself."

Where's Mr. Averley Baxter? The Winnipeg Free Press wants to know. It suggests: "Through official confirmation of the news is lacking there can be no doubt that he was under the council table at Berchtesgaden and we may look forward to reading his comments thereon in the near future. As we read them we may perhaps remember that the current number of Maclean's Magazine carries his opinion that there is really nothing at all in this war scare that the sensational Canadian newspapers have been publicizing of late."

IF THE GUESSES ARE TRUE HITLER HAS WON WORLD WAR

From San Francisco Chronicle
If the guesses of Hitler's peace terms, partially verified at this writing, are correct, and if Britain and France shall intimidate Czechoslovakia into granting them, it will mean that the most colossal bluffer in history has won the war which the Kaiser lost. Whether either of these conjectures turns out to be correct we shall, of course, know later. Meantime all is hypothesis, but hypothesis with some partially accredited items on which to base it.

The terms, as reported to the Associated Press, are that the Sudeten part of Czechoslovakia shall be at once annexed to Germany and all the rest shall come so completely under Nazi sway that it might as well be annexed. Especially the great Skoda munitions works, erected largely by French money, are to sell their arms only where Hitler dictates. This means that none of its arms shall go to Russia nor be used for the defence of Czechoslovakia. And it means that Czechoslovakia is a stepping stone to later advances through the rest of the Danube basin.

JUST THE SAME

NO," SAID MRS. NOGGINS when I saw her for the first time since the beginning of the summer holidays, "no, nothing 'as 'appened since you bin away, sir. Every-thing goes on just the same, you know, just the same. The Boggs are expecting another in November, as usual, but that's no news, is it? They're allus expectin' at this time of year. And there's trouble in Europe, as usual, you know. Allus is at this time of year. It's funny how everybody is all worked up about Europe, you know, as if it was somethin' new. There has been such a fuss made, you know, about wot they're doin' over there that everybody thinks it's new, you know, and all the young people himagines there's never bin anythink like this in the world before. But it's the same as allus. Have you ever stopped to think, sir, that there was England and France and Russia against Germany in 1914. Just the same as now, and the trouble all started when Germany tried to get goin' down in the Balkans somewhere? It's all the same as it was 20 years ago, but so many things 'as 'appened we forget. We think it's all new and wonderful and all like that. We think it's a 'oly war and for the first time democracy is fightin' for its life. But after you've stripped all the 'adjectives off it, wot 'ave you got but 1914 all over agin, and another war to end war with the same crowds, fightin'? And I dare say we'll be glad to 'ave the Rooshians with us fightin' for democracy under a dictator, same as we was to 'ave 'em fightin' for democracy with us when they was under the Czar. Only difference is, this feller seems to 'ave some sense. Oh, sure, it's all the same, and goes in circles until you come around to the same thing all over agin every 20 years or so, same as at the Boggs' 'ouse; only it occurs there more frequent."

DANGEROUS COUNSEL

PROFESSOR DUNLAP of the University of California has recently said a terrible thing. He has said that humanity must be taught that sometimes it has a duty, for the sake of human progress, to commit crime, and children must sometimes defy their parents. At once the moralists are up in arms and the professor is in the dog house. But he has come back with a shocking reply. He says that a lot of the greatest reforms of history were achieved by persons who broke the law, and he lists among these law-breakers the following: Jesus Christ, Margaret Sanger (birth control), John Brown (slavery), Robert E. Lee (the Southern Confederacy) and George Washington (the American Revolution).

That is all very true, but it is a dangerous doctrine to put into weak heads just the same, for it may spill over. It takes a Washington to know when crime pays, and for every Washington that succeeds in reform through crime there are a thousand criminals who end up in jail. Besides, the courts don't recognize these precedents. Next time you are hauled into court for speeding, try telling Magistrate Hall that Washington broke the law, or that the grandfather of the Canadian Prime Minister once led a treasonable revolt against the government of Queen Victoria. It is only on a gigantic scale that crime pays. Then, as the world of finance has often proved, it pays handsomely.

WILD WEST DAYS

A GOOD STORY of the "wild and woolly" west of days gone by is told by Colonel A. A. Anderson, artist, sportsman and head of the Yellowstone Forest Reserve in his book "Experiences and Impressions". Once he attended a local trial—as prosecutor—held in the judge's home in a log cabin in the Wyoming mountains. The judge, after having leaved over the statute books of Wyoming, told the jury to hold up their right hands. He then proceeded to swear them in. But just as he had finished, he looked again in the statute books and said:

"By God, I swore the wrong swore. I will have to swear you over again."

I like, too, Colonel Anderson's story of Washakie, chief of the Shoshone Indians. In recognition of some service Washakie had rendered during the Civil War, General Grant sent him a present of a handsome silver saddle. United States troops were stationed on the Shoshone reserve, and the commanding officer, having drawn the soldiers up in line, presented this saddle to Washakie with great ceremony and a lengthy, grandiloquent speech.

Washakie stood by with Indian stolidity all the while the colonel was making his address. When the colonel had finished he asked Washakie if he wished to reply. The chief shook his head, and declared he had nothing to say. The officer was disturbed at this seeming lack of response.

"What!" he said. "After all you heard the White Father say to you, have you nothing to say in reply?"

The Indian answered: "The white man feels with his head; his head has tongue. Indian feels with his heart; heart no tongue."

COURAGE

Quiet, my heart—defer not hope,
Nor say life is not pleasant still.
Souls shall not always blindly grope.
If faith is firm, and strong the will.

Life's path may thorny be and rough;
There's roses yet, for those who see.
To greet the sun it is enough!
The present shall not always be.

Last of the Goths

CRESCENT and yellow, the moon rode the ebon sky as ensign of triumph promised to the Moslem and portent of doom for the Visigoth, the Chicago News recalls. Night waned, and dawn flared on the drear grasslands forked by the River Quadele. Slowly the rival hosts wheeled into battle lines for the thrown gauge that meant the ownership of Spain. Astride swift and satiny Arab and Barbary steeds, the Moslem glittered with lances and scimitars of Damascus steel whilst pennons and black banners wrought with strange Moorish devices caught the errant breeze. Bravely the Visigoths gleamed with battle-axe, sword and mace.

Roderic, King of Spain, wound his ivory chariot through the ranks. Lined with cloth of gold, its silken awning woven with pearls and rubies, and drawn by milk-white horses champion bits of gold, it bore the monarch whose robe was beaten gold and whose armor was inlaid with precious jewels. Why had he wronged the maiden Florida, whose father, the Count Julian, would betray him in the midway of battle? Why had he broken into the forbidden tower and read on a secret scroll the presage of his end? Was it not also prophesied that Tarik, leader of the Moslem host, would surely avail? After he had passed over the straits, had not an ancient crow pointed him out as the man with a mole on his right shoulder and with a right arm longer than the left?

Ha! the lines clashed whilst Spanish claxon defied Moorish kettledrum. Crying, "Follow me, my warriors!" Tarik Squint-eye clove through the press and smote down a general in rich armor. Roderic had fallen, the Visigoths faltered, the Moslems surged in might!

Thus Arab poetry and Spanish legend embroider the Battle of Guadalete—fought just 1227 years ago today, which, for the first time, gave the Moslem foot hold in the peninsula, led to three centuries of the brilliance, humanity and political ineptitude of Moslem rule, endowed Spain with seven centuries of Moslem art and agriculture, and, most fateful of all—facilitated the "Spanish" race with that eastern blood which ever since has affected Spain's expansion and cadence, and indeed her very cast of mind and fixture of soul. With him Tarik brought Arab, Berber, Tartar, Copt and Syrian; and following him for centuries flowed wave after wave from the Near East by way of Africa to mingle with Celt-Iberian, Roman, Visigoth and Frank. By this dominant mixture, and only thus, can we explicate the Spanish soul—with its dark, grave pride, its indomitable patience; its hate of province for province; its incurable mythmaking; its incapacity for self-government; its scorn of the trader and the peasant; its raids upon the Americas for treasure, but not for business; its matchless golden poetry; and its present plight!

Let no "scientific" modern dismiss the almost legendary battle by which Tarik—who gave his name to Gibraltar—and Roderic have come to us halloed in a poetic mist. From that skirmish has descended Spain's whole story—how forever she invites the African and the northern stranger to settle her domestic quarrels; how she has ever been the spearhead of East facing West; how the course of South America became clear from the hour of Tarik, and why Spain plunges today through the appalling fratricidal coil which is her birthright alleviated only once, and by whatever means, when Ferdinand and Isabella fused her for a single splendid period into a single nation.

If we were positive that what we say is the truth and were punished by fine of $1 every time we were not positive, there would not be half the crime, corruption and scandal which false gossip breeds.

It makes me sick to hear shallow, unlearned people continually harp on this panacea or the other for the solution of the dreaded and trite depression.

BELGIAN CROIX DE GUERRE

To the Editor:—The National Society of the Belgian Croix de Guerre will publish at the commencement of 1939 the Golden Book of the list of citations obtained on the battlefields during the campaign 1914-1918.

The English-speaking holders of this high distinction are requested to forward a copy of the citation awarding them the Belgian Croix de Guerre, to the headquarters of the Association, 172, rue de Laeken, Brussels, Belgium.

This Golden Book will be offered gratis to the principal libraries and educational institutions of the country.

HANDING OVER

To the Editor:—In reading the life of Sir Basil Zaharoff, the armaments king, it is interesting to note a meeting of armament shareholders in London, attended by the Chamberlain faction.

The information your news paper has been supplying lately has shown the attitude of the Cliveden set in working against democracy by their readiness to sacrifice Ethiopia, Spain, Austria, China, and now Czechoslovakia, to the gangster nations, all the time pretending that they are working for peace.

When the Tory government has completely succeeded in making Germany the strongest nation in the world it will be too late to prevent the aggressors from crushing Great Britain as she will have no friends left.

TOO MANY CRITICS

To the Editor:—There are too many people of political, social and religious learning fault-finding, wrongly criticizing and rebuking people, policies or situations they do not understand. This letter is addressed to all my fellow men, asking them to deal fairly, righteously, and not to criticize or try to destroy anything we are too lazy to investigate and try to understand. We need research, work study, diligent seeking for the truth, unadulterated.

If we were positive that what we say is the truth and were punished by fine of $1 every time we were not positive, there would not be half the crime, corruption and scandal which false gossip breeds.

It makes me sick to hear shallow, unlearned people continually harp on this panacea or the other for the solution of the dreaded and trite depression.

TWENTY-ONE RAILWAYS TAKEN OVER

From Railway Facts

Since 1911, the Canadian Government has taken over 21 railways. The first, in 1911, was 12½ miles, owned by the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, and the last, in 1929, was 158 miles of the St. John and Quebec Railway. The biggest system acquired was the Canadian Northern, 9,513 miles, in 1917, and the smallest, eight miles, from the Montreal Tramways Company in 1924. The Grand Trunk Pacific system was 2,732 miles long, and the Grand Trunk 5,307 miles.

The Northern Alberta Railways, 927 miles, were acquired jointly by the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific in 1929.

Bids Opened on Pandora Paving

Five Tenders on City Project Referred to Works Committee

Five bids, ranging from $20,668 to $24,193, were submitted to the City Council last night by construction companies tendering on the improvement project for Pandora Avenue from Cook Street to Fernwood Avenue.

The tenders were received and referred to the public works committee, the engineer and the purchasing agent for a report.

The firms, with their tenders, follows: General Construction Company, $22,238.50; Columbia Bitulithic Limited, $24,193; E. R. Taylor Construction Company, $20,668; Carter-Halls & Aldinger, $22,558 and the city engineer, $23,723.

Tenders for hose for the fire department were opened and referred immediately to the fire wardens and purchasing agent for a report.

"Will It Rain, Then?" Writer Asks Bureau

Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau workers have had many odd questions hurled at them, but probably the oddest was contained in a letter from a Spokane resident, who is planning a visit to the city at the end of the month.

"Could you," the writer asks, "tell me how fog conditions will be at that time? Will it be raining?"

The bureau officials do not profess to be weather prophets, and therefore could not predict weather conditions that far ahead.

For that matter, neither could the officials of the Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill. It was reported at the observatory that it was possible to make a fairly good weather prophecy about 48 hours ahead, but not as far as 10 days. "When it comes to prophesying weather that far in the future, your guess is as good as ours," an official stated.

Mississippi Editor Here For Fishing

Tom L. Gibson, newspaper publisher and mining man from Friars Point, Mississippi, was a visitor at the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau today. He will fish for salmon and trout at various upland localities and plans to make a trip to Zeballos, Vancouver Island's newest mining area. Mr. Gibson has mining interests on the Olympic Peninsula and in the Cascades.

He is president of the State Taxpayers' Association and of the Mississippi Gridiron Club. The latter, he said, was composed of a group of fun-seeking newspapermen, and one of their annual customs was to arrange a dinner for politicians, at which party they tell the politicians just what they think of them. "Of course, the happenings are not reported," Mr. Gibson said, "but the politicians are not spared. They are told of all their mistakes. There is no censorship."

Chicagoan Buys Salt Spring Home

Sale of a 500-acre property and home on Salt Spring Island to John Kellogg, wealthy Chicago business man, has been completed, it was learned here today.

The property was that owned by Clive Trench and is situated on the west side of Salt Spring Island overlooking Sansum Narrows, a popular coast fishing spot.

The amount involved in the sale was not disclosed.

Having specialized in the instruction of modern ballroom dancing for the past three years in Victoria, Mr. and Mrs. George Rosaly, well-known local instructors, and affiliates of the famous Arthur Murray School of Dancing, New York, are once again prepared to offer their past and prospective pupils instruction in all forms of modern ballroom dancing.

Bert Challoner Gyro President

Annual Meeting Names Leader and Director of Club

R. L. "Bert" Challoner was elected president of the Victoria Gyro Club at the annual meeting held last night in the form of a supper meeting in the Empress Hotel. He succeeded Everett Taylor.

A. R. Minnis was chosen as vice-president and Harold L. Butters was re-elected to the office of secretary-treasurer. The five seats on the club directorate will be occupied by the following: W. J. Clarke, N. H. Grant, A. E. Osborough, W. A. Burnett and F. W. Hawes.

Mr. Challoner, after thanking the members for the honor they had bestowed upon him in naming him president, urged more get-togethers among club members as a means of living up to the organization. He asked for the full co-operation of the whole membership in club activities during his term in office and asked them to start the year properly by having a good turnout for the annual installation to be held Saturday, October 1, at the Colwood Golf Club. William Tobey, Gyro International representative at Prince Rupert, will officiate at the installation, and Roy Sharp of Tacoma will be the Lieutenant Governor.

Would Keep U.S. Out of Europe

American Legion Fears Entanglements; Borah in Retort to Blum

WASHINGTON (AP)—A roar of indignation came from Republican Senator Borah, aging "Lion of Idaho," when he heard that Leon Blum, former Premier of France, had been elected President Roosevelt use his prestige to help solve the European tangle.

"What such suggestions really mean," he told reporters, "is that the United States involve itself in European controversies and furnish the money and men which may be necessary in case of war."

"It would have been more in harmony with that national honor, so often exemplified in French history, had Mr. Blum given his attention to the fact that France has a solemn treaty with Czechoslovakia to come to her rescue and, instead of advising the United States as to her duty, had advised his own people to courageously stand by their treaty."

Finds Canada Outlook Good

Mutual Life Company Executive Reports Dominion's Business Steady

A. E. PEQUEGNAT

A generally brighter outlook in Canadian business was reported here yesterday by A. E. Pequegnat, assistant general manager of the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada, who, with company executives, is in the city on a business trip.

Accompanying Mr. Pequegnat are W. Carlisle, superintendent of agencies for the company, and George Dunbar, company assistant.

W. CARLISLE

In the insurance business particularly, Mr. Pequegnat said Canada had not suffered to the extent the United States had during the business recession. In western Canada he found generally improved conditions with the morale of the people considerably higher than during the last few years. While prairie crop prices were low, farmers had plenty of food and feed for their stock.

On their visit the executive brought the felicitations of head offices to Fred M. McGregor, local branch manager, who this year received the award for being the company's leading producer in Canada. "It is always a pleasure to come to Victoria and meet Fred," Mr. Pequegnat said.

During the day they conferred with local representatives on business matters.

age, chairman of the membership committee; Neil Grant, chairman of the attendance committee; W. J. Clarke, club representative on the Service Clubs' Council and in charge of the club's boys' work; and R. S. Challoner, chairman of the sports committee.

W. C. Hudson, Sgt.-at-Arms, reported that 78 fines had been collected from members. The fines totaled $5.90.

After discussing a letter received from Frank Paulding, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A., asking the club to sponsor a membership drive for the youth organization, it was decided that the club would not sponsor the drive, but individual members would do their best to help the campaign.

It was reported that the 1939 Gyro International Convention will be held at Jasper. Members were urged to make a special effort to attend this gathering.

New Reserve in British Army

LONDON (AP)—Rt. Hon. Leslie Hore-Belisha, War Secretary, yesterday ordered creation of a new section in the British army reserve to provide warrant officers and noncommissioned officers "to fill responsible positions on mobilization."

Enlistment will be open to warrant officers and noncommissioned officers on pension now and medically fit for service. Only pensioners who have been away from the colors for four years or less and who are under 50 years of age will be eligible.

It was announced a new class of warrant officers was being formed from the ranks of regular noncommissioned officers. Thousands will be promoted to the new class October 1. They will take charge of units formerly commanded by subalterns.

The announcement was in line with Mr. Hore-Belisha's plan to give the army an adequate supply of alert, well-trained officers regardless of their social position.

City Advised to Seek Charter

Withdrawal From Union of B.C. Municipalities Suggested By Alderman

"I feel that at least half of the money spent in going to the Union of British Columbia Municipalities convention and in paying fees has been thrown away," Alderman E. Williams, one of the five city delegates to the Nelson session last week, informed the City Council following presentation of an exhaustive report on the activities of the convention last night.

"I'm fully prepared to advise the council to get a charter and get out of the union, or send a smaller delegation to its conventions," he added.

He suggested a move along those lines be delayed until further consideration could be given to matters concerning costs of securing a special charter, and stated he would, unless he had a decided change of heart, be prepared to present such a motion or support it at a time closer to the next convention.

Giving his personal impressions of the gathering, he declared:

"I feel Victoria, for some reason or other, is decidedly and definitely out of step with the Union of British Columbia Municipalities."

He was not, he said, in a position to say why or how the city could re-establish itself in that group; but was emphatic in his statement that something would have to be done as far as Victoria was concerned. On that score he suggested an approach to the provincial government to secure a charter similar to that of Vancouver. If a delegation were to be sent to the union convention, he thought two representatives would be as good as five or six, in view of the manner in which the resolutions committee steered resolutions through the general body of the convention.

Alderman Morgan favored continuation of membership in the union, pointing to the partial success the city had gained in representations to the government with union delegates where individual efforts had failed. He thought the city had gained considerable from the convention on its relief resolutions alone, and pointed to the shouldering of 40 per cent of unemployment costs by the province following the application of the union delegation.

CHIP ON SHOULDER

He contended outside delegates said Victoria delegates went to the gatherings with chips on their shoulders. "We lose our standing by that. Our resolutions are defeated," he said.

To illustrate the lack of weight the city carried, Alderman Williams stated Victoria delegates had nominated only one person for office. They had sought to have the mayor placed on the executive. On the written ballot he was defeated, the alderman added.

Alderman W. L. Morgan, also a delegate, led the council in complimenting Alderman Williams on his excellent report. He supported the latter in urging resolutions be forwarded to the union as early as possible in order to have them circulated among municipalities prior to the convention proper.

He thought the city had gained considerable from the convention on its relief resolutions alone, and pointed to the shouldering of 40 per cent of unemployment costs by the province following the application of the union delegation.

TOO COSTLY

"Our representations at such conventions are more costly than the results merit," Alderman R. A. C. Dewar said in support of Alderman Williams' point. He favored a charter for the city, stating:

"Our problems are different from those of smaller municipalities." The latter, he noted,

EXPENDITURES BY CITY SATISFACTORY

At the end of July expenditures of the city stood at almost half the estimated total of disbursements for the year, according to a statement of expenditure for the first seven months presented by the city comptroller to the City Council last night.

Against a yearly estimate of $1,388,402.08, a sum of $635,972.47 had been spent the digest disclosed.

The insurance vote only was listed as overspent, a total of $6,874.37 having been paid out against an estimate of $6,150.

Relief expenditure was over two-thirds of the annual figure, with the winter months still to come. At the end of July expenditure stood at $66,130.07 against a twelve-month's estimate of $95,000.

Several commitments, including debt retirement and salary restorations were not shown in the actual expenditure columns.

"On the whole we are a little ahead," Alderman W. L. Morgan, finance committee chairman, stated upon submission of the report.

It showed clearly that department heads were making every effort to keep within their budgets. Acting Mayor James Adam added:

Cleaning up a wishing well in a national park reservation, employees recently removed 700 objects—from bobby pins to chewing gum—placed in the well by wishful tourists.

Provided Milk for Children for Two Decades

I.O.D.E. Chapter to Hold Tag Day Saturday

To carry on the benevolent work started 20 years ago this month, during which time about $34,000 has been expended in the purchase of milk for ill-nourished children attending the city schools, the Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter I.O.D.E., will hold its annual tag day on Saturday.

Started as a memorial to the late Dr. O. M. Jones, pioneer surgeon, the milk fund has proved of inestimable value to the children of Victoria, as attested by Dr. Murray Anderson, the school medical officer, and the City School Board, particularly during times of economic stress when many families are on relief and consequent "short commons."

The chapter feels confident that the generous public will respond to Saturday's appeal with the same readiness which has made the carrying on of the work possible through the last two decades. Anyone willing to tag is kindly requested to telephone the regent and convenor, Mrs. F. E. Dowdall, G 7358.

A soapless soap made of milk whey is to be tried in Germany.

Miss "Soo" Kelly Is Married Today At St. Mary's

Pender Island Girl Is Bride of Mr. Francis G. Wheatley

A wedding of interest to many residents of the Gulf Islands, Vancouver Island and of the mainland took place this morning at 10:30 at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, when Rev. R. D. Porter, of the Gulf Islands' parish, Mayne Island, uncle of the bridegroom, assisted by Ven. Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunn, united in marriage Dorothy Constance (Soo) Kelly, daughter of Mrs. S. A. Kelly of South Pender Island and the late Mr. Sydney A. Kelly, and Mr. Francis G. Wheatley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Wheatley of Vancouver, formerly of Maple Creek, Sask.

IN IVORY VELVET

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Fitzroy Kelly of Los Angeles, the bride was a charming figure in her gown of transparent ivory velvet, fashioned on lines of almost classic simplicity, with a cowl neckline, long tight-fitting sleeves, and the graceful floor-length skirt flaring at the back into a brief train. Her filmy veil of silk net was attached to her head with a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried an arm bouquet of Calla lilies.

Her only attendant was her cousin, Miss Kitty Lake of Victoria, in a pretty frock of pale blue net, fashioned with skirt flaring from the hips and semi-fitting bodice. Her hat of silk mohair matched her gown, with the crown formed of flowers in pastel shades, and she carried an early Victorian posy of flowers in pastel shades. Mr. David Howden of Port Alberni was groomsmen.

The hymn sung at the service was "May the Grace of Christ Our Saviour." Mr. F. T. C. Wickert presiding at the organ.

AT LADY LAKES

Owing to a recent bereavement in the bridegroom's family, only relatives and a few intimate friends were present at the wedding breakfast, which was served at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Sir Richard and Lady Lake, 1290 Newport Avenue, Oak Bay, where autumn flowers were used in floral decoration, with gladioli and Michaelmas daisies predominating.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Wheatley left on a motor trip through Washington and Oregon states, and on their return will make their home in Port Alberni.

For traveling, the bride, who is an enthusiastic weaver, wore a suit of homespun of her own handwork in arbutus shade with brown overcheck, a primrose yellow jersey and a fur felt hat in brown trimmed with a suede band to match.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Fyfe Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Fladgate and Mrs. C. Millener, all of Vancouver.

Cathedral Opposes Cabaret License

VANCOUVER (CP)—Christ Church Cathedral is being engulfed by the city's growing business centre and may soon be engulfed in the heart of the night-club district.

Very Rev. Ramsay Armitage, cathedral dean and rector, told the City Council of the church's plight in a letter yesterday in which he opposed the granting of a cabaret license to an establishment cross-corner from the church.

The council's decision on the license was laid over until their next meeting.

The council did grant a cabaret license for an establishment just one block from the church.

BELMONT UNITED Y.P.S.

The Belmont United Young People's Society held its annual elections last night at the Church Hall. After Roy Whittle opened the meeting with a devotional period, elections were held resulting as follows: Roy Hurdleby, president; Audrey Morrison, vice-president; Mona Emery, secretary; Al Zala, treasurer; Roy Whittle and Mona Emery, council representatives.

Miss Emery and Kay Knott will take charge of the rummage sale. It was announced that the annual meeting of the Greater Victoria Y.P.U.C. Council will be held on October 5, and the Belmont Y.P. social will be held on Monday next, September 26. The Belmont society will attend the Metropolitan Y.P. rally tonight at 8 at the Metropolitan Hall, when Frank Paulding will speak.

The Esquimalt United Young People's Society

will resume its weekly meetings tomorrow evening at 7.45. All members are requested to attend as an extensive reorganization is planned.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

Viscount and Viscountess Colville of Point Colville, Sanichton, will leave on Monday next for the east en route for Scotland, where they will make their home in future.

Miss Eleanor Heisterman, St. Charles Street, has gone over to Vancouver to spend a few days with friends.

Mrs. C. Millener of Vancouver, who came over to Victoria to attend the Wheatley-Kelly wedding this morning, is the guest of Mrs. J. Ashworth, Oak Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Murray of Nanaimo returned yesterday to their home up the island after spending the weekend in Victoria.

Mrs. C. W. Bradshaw, Logan Avenue, who has been spending the summer at her cottage at Cordova Bay, has returned to Victoria.

Miss Pat Anstie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Anstie, Beach Drive, went over to Vancouver last night, where she will attend the Sacred Heart Academy.

Mr. and Mrs. Eden Quinton of Seattle and their small son, who are visiting with Mrs. Quinton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Oates, Woodlawn Crescent, will leave towards the end of this week for their home.

Mrs. Anthony Creet, who went over to England a few months ago to visit relatives, sailed from Great Britain on Saturday via the Panama Canal, accompanied by her son, Roger, who has been attending school in England.

Mrs. Sydney A. Kelly of South Pender Island and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fitzroy Kelly of Los Angeles, who are visiting Sir Richard and Lady Lake, Newport Avenue, will go over to South Pender on Thursday. Towards the end of next week Mr. and Mrs. Fitzroy Kelly will leave for their home in California, accompanied by Mrs. Kelly, who will spend a few months with them in the south.

On Sunday afternoon at the Oak Bay United Church the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Bradow of 1147 Newport Avenue was christened by Rev. F. R. G. Dredge, receiving in baptism the names Gloria Joan. Following the christening service, Mr. and Mrs. Bradow entertained a few guests at their home on Newport Avenue. Miss Evelyn Manders of Vancouver, who came over to Victoria for the occasion, has returned to her home on the mainland.

Miss Marjorie Delf entertained last evening at her home on Gorge Road, at a dinner party in honor of Miss Marion Wingate, who will leave Thursday to attend the University of Washington. Assisting the hostess were Miss Phyllis Dodsworth and Miss Alice King. The invited guests included Misses Georgina Dowdall, Davina Dingwall, Betty Cotter, Noreen Friker, Mildred Irwin, Louise McBride, Estelle McDougall, Wanda Ross, Jessie Woods, Margaret Worth, Barbara Miller, Evelyn Taylor, Grace Stuart and Pam Jones.

During Wednesday afternoon's session, Miss Edna Grant will conduct a conference on "Y" work. At 8 p.m. Rev. E. R. Attebery of Seattle, will give an address, "The Reign of True Temperance Comes to the States."

During the morning session Thursday, will be election and installation of officers. Rev. J. L. Sloat will speak on "Christ in the Life of the Individual" during the quiet hours at 11:30 Wednesday and Thursday. The convention will close Thursday afternoon followed by the post-executive meeting at 7 p.m.

WEDDINGS

KEYNOLDS—KERMODE

At a simple home wedding on Saturday evening, Thelma Theresa, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theo Kermode of Vancouver, was united in marriage to Mr. Gavin Lee Reynolds, third son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reynolds of Beaver Point, South Salt Spring Island.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. J. Thompson at the home of the bridegroom's parents at 8:30 p.m., only the immediate members of the families and a few intimate friends being present, the contracting parties standing under an arch of pink and white. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Douglas Kermode, was wearing a gown of pale pink tulle with matching accessories, and instead of a veil wore a wreath of pale pink roses.

She was attended as matron of honor, by Mrs. Douglas Kermode, who wore a dress of blue crepe and white accessories. Her bridesmaid was Miss Lottie Reynolds, sister of the groom, who was attired in a pretty dress of blue tulle. Mr. John Story of Victoria was best man.

A reception was held preceding the departure of the newly-married couple, who will make their home at Fulford Harbor.

ALLEN—COLES

At St. Barnabas Church last night at 8, in a setting of autumn flowers, Rev. A. E. Balfour Bruce united in marriage Amy Maud, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Coles, 2643 Blanshard Street, and Mr. William Allen, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Watson, 1023 Colville Road. Dr. J. E. Watson presided at the organ.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a white sharkskin coat over a pink crepe frock, and a white shell hat, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and carnations.

Attending her was her sister, Mrs. J. Dempster, in a coffee-colored tulle frock with a matching lace coat, and a mauve doll hat; Mrs. W. Dempster, in a pink suit, and Miss Milly Shingles in a yellow flowered dress and a pale blue sharkskin coat. They wore pink and yellow doll hats respectively. Mr. Victor Dear was best man. The bridegroom, and the ushers, Mr. Arthur Hicks and Mrs. S. Forman, were in R.C.N. uniform.

A reception was held in the Sons of England Hall after the ceremony, where the decorations were carried out in pink and white, during which the bride and groom stood under a floral arch. Dancing to the strains of a popular orchestra was enjoyed by the guests and a buffet supper was served from a table centered by a handsome three-tier

Found contentedly sitting in an automobile with her wrists chained to the steering wheel, Wilma Leaycroft, 18-year-old waitress from Neptune, N.J., told reporters and police that her sweetheart, Louis Tortariello, 24-year-old welder, had thus emmeshed her to keep her true to him while he was at work in a Linden, N.J., factory. Then, while a crowd watched, Tortariello came out and, as shown above, unchained her to take her for a walk and lunch. On being questioned by police, Tortariello admitted it was all a publicity stunt to be followed by a wedding on horseback.

Statesmen have their suavity, their power and their knowledge to guide them as each day Europe teeters on the brink of frightful war. But lesser folk—those whom hostilities will hurt quickest and deepest—have only their simple faith to sustain them. The poignantly human picture above shows two old women, both refugees from strife-torn Sudetenland, at prayer in a church in Prague.

Social and Personal

Miss Buntie Sloan, daughter of Mr. Justice Gordon Sloan and Mrs. Sloan, York Place, has left for Vancouver to attend the University of British Columbia.

Mrs. E. R. Lowndes, Selkirk Avenue, entertained at tea on Sunday afternoon in honor of her daughter, Olive, who is leaving shortly to be married in Halifax. N.S. Mrs. F. E. Blowers and Mrs. George I. Warren presided at the tea table, assisted by the Misses Molly Tarns, Peggy McDonald, Crystal Mason and Joan Lowndes.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Fladgate of Vancouver, who came over for the Wheatley-Kelly wedding this morning, are staying with friends, Mrs. Fladgate being the guest of Major and Mrs. G. Sisman, Muir Street, while Mr. Fladgate is the guest of Mr. E. Stenham, Pemberton Road.

Miss Laura Woodward, whose marriage takes place this week, was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given recently by Miss Muriel Dennstedt at her home on Oliphant Street. On her arrival the guest of honor was presented with a corsage bouquet of pink carnations and the gifts, which were concealed in a prettily decorated box in pale shades of blue and yellow surmounted by a small umbrella with streamers of the same colors. Miss Florrie Quilty and Mrs. E. Fenlon won the prizes for the guessing contest, the consolation prizes being given to Miss Thelma Fenlon and Mrs. H. Best. Refreshments brought the enjoyable evening to a close. Those invited were: Mrs. E. Fenlon, Mrs. J. Delmastro, Mrs. Z. Dennstedt, Mrs. C. West, Mrs. E. Anderson; Mrs. H. Best, Misses Laura Woodward, Jessie Watt, Renee Wilcox, Dorothy Paxton, Grace Livingstone, Stella Wyatt, Enid Kelly, Laura Bianco, Hilda Bunting, Helen Anderson, Florrie Quilty, Thelma Fenlon, Dorothy Johnson, Hilda Dash, Lillian Robertson, Margaret Gard, Mary Forster, Eleanor Baran, Barbara Curtin, Edith Drummond and Agnes Dennstedt.

In honor of Miss Mary Galvin, whose wedding will take place Friday, a kitchen shower was held at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. C. Galvin, 1272 Second Street. Upon her arrival the bride-to-be was presented with a corsage bouquet of carnations and maidenhair ferns, and was led to the seat of honor beneath a white wedding bell, from which streamers of the prevailing colors were suspended. She then received many lovely gifts from a wagon tastefully decorated in green and mauve and set off with a miniature bride and groom, little Gay Grant and Ellen Dames presenting the gifts. The reception rooms were gaily decorated in green and mauve. Games were played, the prizes being won by Miss Dorothy Peebles, Mrs. Grant and Mrs. L. Allen. Later, from a table covered with a bowl of mauve asters, a buffet supper was served. The invited guests were: Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. C. E. Galvin, Mrs. Dames, Mrs. E. J. Galvin, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Edward Sr., Mrs. Edward Jr., Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. Rock, Mrs. W. Mair, Mrs. J. Bragg, Mrs. L. Allen, Mrs. A. Alexander, Mrs. L. Lovett, the Misses Edna Luxton, Margaret Wenden and Dorothy Peebles.

Pauline Frederick, Stage Star, Died Yesterday

Career Success But Private Life Was Unhappy One

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal. (AP)—Pauline Frederick, 53, famous star of the stage and silent motion pictures, died at her home yesterday, apparently from asthma and a heart attack.

Miss Frederick was known on the stage as "the girl with the topaz eyes." She rose from the chorus ranks to become, in her heyday, the United States' most popular actress. She was stately in carriage, black-haired, and talented.

Her private life was not so happy or successful. She had five marriage ventures, all of them ending in divorce or death.

Miss Frederick was born Pauline Libbey in Boston, August 12, 1885. Her stage experience began in "Rogers Brothers in Harvard," an early extravaganza, and her only adventure into musical comedy.

Among her outstanding stage dramas were: "Joseph and His Brothers," "Innocent," "Samson" and "When Knights Were Bold." On the screen she appeared in "Zaza," "Madame X," "La Tosca," "Fedora," "Bella Donna," "Mrs. Dane," "Slave of Vanity," "The Lure of Jade," "Paid in Full," "Resurrection" and "The Eternal City."

When talking pictures came in she played in "On Trial," "Evidence," "The Sacred Flame," "Social Register" and "My Marriage."

Miss Frederick was almost 50 before she found any happiness in marriage. Four of her five marriages ended in the divorce court. Her fifth union, to Col. James A. Marmon, United States army officer, she described as her "only real happiness," yet it was cut short in 1935 by his death, 11 months after the ceremony.

In recent years Miss Frederick divided her time between the stage and screen. She scored a personal triumph in "Elizabeth the Queen." Other notable parts she played in later years were "The Scarlet Woman," "The Queen Was in the Parlor," "Crimson Hours," "Amber" and "Her Majesty, the Widow."

Modern Etiquette

1. Is it correct to address a wedding invitation to "Mr. and Mrs. David Leonard and family?"
2. Is it necessary for each grown member of a family to receive a separate invitation?
3. In a formal invitation, which is the preferred form, "Mr. S. Brown" or "Mr. Stephen Brown"?
4. If two or more hostesses are entertaining and you know only one of them, would it be all right to send your reply to her?
5. If you knew all of the hostesses, to whom would your reply be sent?
What would you do if—
You do not receive an invitation which you have reason to expect? For instance, other members of your family have received a wedding invitation and you have not?
(a) Make the best of it and do nothing?
(b) Inquire at the post office to see if it was mis-sent?
(c) Have a friend make inquiries?

Answers

1. No.
2. Yes, except a man and wife.
3. Latter.
4. Yes.
5. To one in whose house the party is to be given.

First Nights Fun For All Except Actors and Critics

By GEORGE ROSS

NEW YORK—Theatrical first nights are here again. Out of the mothbags come the dapper male raiment and the ermine and many a top hat is being dusted off.

Mrs. Fussbudget is wondering what Mrs. Flutterbudget will wear to that Vinton Freedley musical and has sent espionage agents out to peep. The beauticians are fashioning the mode after the current coiffures of Ina Clair and Gertrude Lawrence and other glamour girls. And Mr. Moneybags, aware that Mr. Moneygrubber has seats in Row B on the centre aisle, already is striving to procure his seats in Row A and outdo his social rival.

Indeed, the folk who frequent first nights live in a predatory world. Did Shakespeare say, "the play's the thing?" Well, that's hardly true as far as first nights are concerned. The show, in their estimation, is on their side of the footlights.

STYLISH TARDINESS

The usual number of autograph pests will haunt the pavements of the theatres and invade the lobbies in quest of signature-worthy names. They will bar normal progress through the street and the arcade that leads to the seating locations.

Curtains will be announced to rise at 8:30 and will rise at 9 p.m. Not that producers will not be acting in good faith, but it is axiomatic among them that first nights always arrive a half hour after the scheduled time. But there will be those naive few of us who will squat in our aisle chairs at the pre-announced moment. Please, no one ask us why. And will be trodden, cuffed, elbowed and shoved around for an hour after curtain rise by the latecomers.

LOBBY-GABBIERS

As usual, lobby conversation between the acts will be as distant as the Himalayas from the show on view. Perhaps an occasional "Doesn't she look gorgeous?" in reference to the leading lady or, by the same token, an occasional "Doesn't she look atrocious?" for the same personage. But otherwise lobby talk, in our sad experience, always has run something like this:

"Why, darling, you do look just divine. Too, too divine... We played bridge with the Asterblits last night. He's such a bore, don't you think?... Yes, I got it direct from Mainbocher. Oh, no, I made him tear up the pattern after he sold it to me. He's such a dear, don't you think?... Palm Beach? Well, Archie thinks that maybe, if war doesn't break out after all, we should visit Lady Primrose on the Riviera this winter. She gets such a smart crowd, doesn't she? Don't you think?"

Well, something like that anyway.

Students Advised To Delay Their Fees

VANCOUVER (CP)—A notice posted publicly on the University of British Columbia campus yesterday advised students not to pay their annual fees until the last day for payment, October 3.

The notice was signed by Malcolm Brown, member of the student campaign committee chosen last year to combat the board of governors' ruling increasing annual tuition fees $25. The notice said "It is rumored the fight against increased fees is not over yet by a long shot."

AS EXPECTED, the New York Yankees clinched the American League baseball pennant over the week-end. Despite a slow start this year, and the fine early showing of the Cleveland Indians, the Yanks sewed up the flag five days earlier than the September 23 date on which they put the title on ice in 1937. Combining better balance in their famed powerhouse attack, along with one of the classiest infield quartettes in the game and a pitching staff headed by Red Ruffing, 20-game winner of the year, and Lefty Gomez, the world champions didn't start to roll until mid-season.

Once they clicked, however, there was no stopping them. They opened a home stand in second place on July 12 and ended it 12 days later in first place by a game. Then they left for a swing through the west in which they swept 12 of 14 games, to return to New York August 9 with a six-game lead. After that they were never threatened.

Strictly on the balance of both its attack and defense, the current Yankee outfit ranks with such other all-time great teams as the Yanks of 1926-28, the Philadelphia Athletics of 1910-13, 1929-31, the New York Giants of the early 1920's, and Chicago's "Peerless Wonders" which Frank Chance led in the early years of the century.

Five of the 1938 Yanks already have scored 100 or more runs; three have driven in 100 or more; and five have sent 80 or more across the plate; five have hit 20 or more home runs, and with 167 home runs already to its credit, the club may break the big league record of 1912.

The 1938 pennant gives the Yankees an American League record of 10 championships in their history. Heretofore, the Bronx Bombers had been deadlocked with Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics, with nine league titles. The crown also gives the Yanks the opportunity to do what no other club in diamond history ever has accomplished: Win three world championships in a row. They meet the National League pennant winners in the fall classic, slated to begin this year on October 5. The Yanks already boast the record of six world titles since 1923.

Perhaps the one factor that has improved the 1938 club over the 1936 and 1937 champions was the addition of Joe Gordon, rookie from San Francisco by way of Newark, at second base. With all due respect to the astute Tony Lazzeri, "brains" of the Yankee infield for 12 years until he was released to the Chicago Cubs last winter, Gordon has speeded up the play of the inner defenses until the current quartette is among the best in the business. Gordon is one of the top rookies of the campaign, having driven in 90 runs and hit 23 homers, as well as improving the all-round fielding performance of the club.

Of course, such old standbys as Bill Dickey, Joe DiMaggio and "Iron Man" Lou Gehrig have been the "backbone" of the team, despite Gehrig's woeful work at bat during most of the first half of the campaign. It is only in the last several days that he has reached the .300 mark in hitting.

Since it is a club that banks on extra-base power, Yankee pitchers are somewhat overlooked in the home-run barrage. Yet, Ruffing, with 21 victories for the year, and one of the lower earned-run averages in the league, hasn't been outdone by any other right-hander in baseball. Gomez got away to a poor start, losing several games of the "heart breaker" variety, but has 17 wins to his credit nevertheless. Monte Pearson has 15 decisions, and Spud Chandler, one of the steady hurling newcomers brought into the big league in the last two years, also has 15.

Chattanooga, Tenn. — Art Lasky, 197, Hollywood, Calif., and Harold Murphy, 196, Phoenix, Ariz., drew (10).

Like the famous ill wind, Pittsburgh Pirates would have you believe it's an ill rain that helps no one's pennant prospects.

The entire National League program was rained out yesterday and that, in its way, was somewhat more important than any of the three games played in the American League.

While the league-leading Pirates were deprived of a chance to improve their record at the expense of the Phillies, they marked up two games that can't be lost and two apiece that their rivals, the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds, can't win. They now have 14 to go and Chicago and Cincinnati 13 apiece.

If any of these three rivals should succeed in winning all its 13 games—and nothing appears more unlikely in view of the Cubs' recent record—the Pirates would need only eight victories to dispose of the New York Giants, 10 to eliminate the Reds or 11 to remain ahead of the Cubs.

In other words, the nearer they come to the end of the season, whether they play or not, the bigger that three and a half game lead looks. And to make it more formidable, after the four-game series with Brooklyn that opens today, the Bucs play their remaining games against Cincinnati and Chicago.

On the ball field, yesterday's outstanding development was one of the most thorough beatings the American League champion Yankees have taken all season.

After clinching the pennant Sunday, with the aid of the weather, the Yanks dropped a 13 to 1 decision to St. Louis Browns. Lou Gehrig played only an inning to preserve his consecutive game record and the rest of the regulars might as well have left with him. Cleveland Indians, still trying for second place, picked up a half game on the idle Boston Red Sox when they made four hits good for a 4 to 3 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics. Jeff Heath's homer accounted for three runs. Washington welcomed Detroit 12 to 2 behind Pete Appleton's five-hit flinging and Hank Greenberg's chances of beating Babe Ruth's home run record were further weakened when he was held to a single.

COAST LEAGUE

Already $2,500 richer by taking the Coast League Pennant, Los Angeles Angels leveled their sights on an additional $5,000 to-day as they tangled with the Sacramento Senators in the Shaughnessy playoffs.

While Angels and third place Senators play at Los Angeles tonight in the first of three games there, San Francisco Seals, who managed to get into the playoffs by virtue of a couple of percentage points, move into Seattle.

After three games in Los Angeles the Senators move into their home park for the rest of a seven-game series. Seattle will wind up its playoff series with the Seals in San Francisco.

The winners of these two series meet for the $3,000 first-place playoff prize and $2,500 for the runner-up. The other two teams will get $1,250 each for their trouble.

A WRESTLING NUT SUNDAY — All Joe Reno, left and Roughhouse Ross needed was chocolate sauce and almonds to top off the evening in good shape when they put on their wrestling match in 315 gallons of ice cream in Minneapolis. Referee Bobby Bylund finds the going slippery and takes a dip in chocolate, strawberry, and vanilla. As far as anyone was able to tell, Reno won.

Four Suspended For Hurdle Race

Judges at Willows Order Indefinite Ban for "Unsatisfactory Race"

Drastic action against four of the racing fraternity at Willows track was taken by the judges yesterday as an outcome of the hurdle race on Saturday.

Three trainers and one rider were given indefinite suspensions from the Willows track. They were: C. Nelson, trainer of Vancouver Express, which won the race; E. Carson, trainer of Boy O' Mine, which ran fourth; W. Hand, the trainer of Mohopini, which ran second; and H. Fisher, the rider of Boy O' Mine.

Presiding Judge W. J. McKen said the judges were not satisfied with the running of Saturday's hurdle race and had decided on the suspensions.

All horses with which they are connected are also suspended indefinitely, the judge announced, and added it is unlikely they will be allowed to compete again this meeting.

The racegoers yesterday got the biggest surprise of the meeting when Great Joe, a son of Dr. Joe out of Greta S., suddenly came to life on the soft track and beat the well-favored Papan by half a length and returned $108.75 straight on $2 tickets. He combined with the favorite for a return of $170.25 in the quinella bet.

Another son of Dr. Joe, Dr. Pook, won the handicap at five and one-half furlongs. He repeated his win of Saturday over a similar field.

The locally-owned Bonilla provided a bit of an upset, winning the fifth at 15 to 1. The mare defeated the well-backed Cisco Kid in a driving finish.

Scottish May Enter Fifteen

The probable return to senior A company of the Canadian Scottish, is the most important development on the rugby front for the 1938-39 season, which should get underway midway in October.

No definite assurance has been given that the kilts will enter as yet, but it is expected that their registration will be with those of the Navy, Bays, Garrison and Oak Bay Wanderers when entries close Monday, October 3.

At a Victoria Rugby Union meeting in the Colonist boardroom, C. E. Ley was chosen chairman of the referees' board and members of the executive extended congratulations to Fred Campbell on his elevation to the presidency of the British Columbia Rugby Union and pledged their support in the interest of the sport.

Tentative arrangements have been made to hold a ball at the Empress Hotel on Friday, December 9. Committee to look after ticket sales and other details will probably be named at the next meeting.

A meeting of the referee's board has been called for Friday, September 23, at 7.30, in the Colonist boardroom. All last year's referees and others interested in officiating are asked to attend.

Hostak Scores K.O.

Seattle Middleweight Champion Puts Away "Young" Stuhley in Third Round; Buxton Wins Decision

SEATTLE (AP) — Al Hostak, new ruler of the middleweight division, was ready for a title defense today after scoring his 17th consecutive knockout last night.

He disposed of Hayden "Young" Stuhley, Kewanee, Ill. battler, via the technical knockout in one minute and five seconds of the third round in what was to have been a 10-round non-title affair.

Hostak weighed 159½ pounds. Stuhley, 164, Stuhley was down four times, being saved by the bell at the count of eight in the first round, and going down three times in the third. The first two third-round knockdowns were for nine taps, and the fight was stopped after the final tumble.

When the weary Stuhley climbed down through the ropes after being revived, a ringsider asked him:

"Do you think Freddie Apostoli could beat Hostak?"

"Hell no," Stuhley answered, shaking his head. "That guy can whip anybody in the world."

Eddie Marino, Hostak's manager, planned to confer with Promoter Nate Druxman in a few days over selection of an opponent for a title bout.

MacDonald Stars

Scores 26 Points as Edmonton Grads Win Second Game From Canton 77 to 52

EDMONTON — Challenge of Canton Engravers for the Underwood international women's basketball trophy was just about washed out here last night as Edmonton Grads defeated the United States invaders 77 to 52 for their second straight victory in the three of five series. Grads, who have held the trophy since 1923, won the first game 75 to 23. Third game will be played tomorrow.

J. Percy Page's Grads led only 12 to 10 at the end of the first quarter, but lengthened their lead to 33 to 21 by halftime. Noel MacDonald, captain of the Canadians, began to hit the basket in the third, and Edmonton increased the margin to 57 to 37 at the three-quarter mark. They continued the pace in the fourth to win 75 to 52.

Far from the pushovers they were in the first game, Canton thrilled the slim turnout of 700 fans as they held Grads on even footing until midway in the second quarter. Freda Savona had the task of checking Noel MacDonald, and made such a job of it during the first half the Grads centre was able to attempt only two shots, one of which was good.

But through the third and fourth quarters MacDonald gave one of the greatest exhibitions of shooting ever seen here counting on 10 of 15 tries from the floor, to run her total to 26, the highest scorer of the game.

Savona, boyish-built star of the Canton team, had her innings during the first three-quarters, during which she scored 25 points.

In play-making Savona brought cheer after cheer as she sent passes the length of the floor to her running mate, Susie Sponseller. Remaining under the Grads basket, Sponseller took advantage of the chances to tally 21 points.

A sporting offer on the part of coach Percy Page of Edmonton kept Savona in the game until the end. Charged with her fourth personal foul halfway through the last quarter, Savona was heading for the sidelines when Page asked that an exception be made in her case and that she be allowed to continue.

Teams and scorers follow: Edmonton — Northup 11, Munton 12, Dann 7, Daniel 4, Brown 9, MacDonald 26, and William son 10.

Canton — Savona 25, Sponseller, 21, Brunski, Stratton 4, Kaiser 2, and Recht.

Hunters Get Good Bags Despite Bad Conditions

Eyston Will Race Tomorrow

Hopes to Boost Land Speed Record to Possibly 365 M.P.H.

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah — Fired by a secret ambition to hold every world land speed record at one time, Captain George E. T. Eyston, quiet, retired British army officer, rushed plans for another lightning-like ride across this lake bed tomorrow.

Behind the graying captain's desire to hoist his own unprecedented mark of 357.5 miles per hour for the measured mile and to test further numerous changes in his car are these reasons:

He hopes to lift the record to a point—possibly 365 m.p.h.—where none can touch it for at least one year.

He expects to recoup the fortune—reputedly $250,000—spent winning, then defending, the title.

He yearns for the endurance speed records now held by Utah's Ab Jenkins.

Eyston declined to discuss his strategy, but his aides admitted he expects to boost the measured mile mark well beyond the present 357.5, then exhibit Thunderbolt at the San Francisco fair in 1939—for a tidy profit—meanwhile concentrating on exceeding any endurance records Jenkins may establish this autumn.

Vancouver Star Fails to Qualify in U.S. Women's Golf

CHICAGO — Two stars from the United States' south and west coast divided medalist honors yesterday in the qualifying round of the 42nd United States women's golf championship.

Playing water-soaked Westmoreland course like the defending champion she is, Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N.C., turned in a card of 41.39—80, one over par.

A few minutes later Dorothy Traugott of San Francisco sloshed the 18th green with an identical total, built on nines of 40-40, to share the role of pacemaker into today's match play competition.

Mrs. Eric Phillips of Toronto barely managed to qualify. Playing through rain, mud and chilling winds, Mrs. Phillips tied with seven other players at 94 and survived the playoff. The other Canadian in the tournament, Miss Kaye Farrell of Vancouver, failed to qualify, shooting a 97.

Miss Farrell's card: 54 49 57 53 57 63 66 48 97.

Three strokes off the pace was Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., with 41-42, 83, a shot under the totals of Maureen O'Connell, veteran from Haworth, N.J., and two members of the British Curtis Cup team, Clarrie Tiersan of Bally Ireland, and Jessie Anderson of Perth, Scotland.

Ellamae Williams of Chicago, Betsy MacLeod of Williamsville, N.Y., and Patty Berg, highly-rated Minneapolis star, had 85's—with the field strung far back from that figure.

Mrs. Glenna Collet Vare, six times winner of the crown, posted a 90.

MRS. A. DOWELL WINS CUP GOLF

Mrs. Arthur Dowell is the new holder of the Angus Campbell Cup. In the final played at the Colwood Golf Club on Saturday she defeated Mrs. Peggy Enke at the 19th hole after an interesting match.

After gaining a three-hole lead on the first nine and increasing it to 4 up at the 11th, Mrs. Dowell saw her opponent stage a great rally to finally square the match on the last hole. On the extra hole Mrs. Dowell dropped in a long putt for a birdie four and victory.

Mrs. J. H. Richardson won the first flight from Mrs. Gonnason. In the putting competition Mrs. B. R. Philbrick won the A class prize and Mrs. A. Christopher topped the B division. The trophy and other prizes were presented in the clubhouse at the conclusion.

ENTRIES CLOSE

Entries for the city senior and commercial tenpin bowling leagues will close at a meeting to be held in the Arcade Alleys tomorrow night at 8.

Many Deer And Blues Reported

Horace Shallard and Alex. McIlvride Return With Largest Bucks

Hundreds of hunters invaded the more popular grouse haunts over the week-end to try and bring down their first bags of the season. White Many returned home disgusted and empty handed, there were quite a number with limit bags or near limits—but they report that they really had to work hard to get them.

Some fine buck deer were brought down on Saturday and Sunday with the entries in the Sylvester U Drive buck deer competition being the best in several years for the opening days. Up to last evening five bucks had been weighed in on the official scales located on the parking lot at the rear of the Sussex Block.

It appears that the majority of Victoria sportsmen went after the blues over the week-end, as they figured there would be more chance of knocking over a few birds than a buck, owing to the dry conditions in the woods. The conditions were not favorable to grouse hunting either, as it was hard for the birds dogs to pick up scent.

However, if the present rain keeps up for a few more days, deer and grouse hunting will improve.

The most popular grouse hunting locality on the opening week-end was the Cowichan Lake district. Red-capped and swarted sportsmen poured into this area in large numbers, and some got handsome bags. It was reported by some of the boys that the birds were sticking to the hill sides, however, Covey were large, but not easy to scare up. Other bird hunters tried Salt Spring Island, Sooke, Jordan River and other localities. The highway leading into the Alsburns was lined with scores of hunters' cars. The majority were after blues in this area.

Malahat, Sooke, Cowichan, Kapor and Shawinigan Lake attracted the main horde of deer hunters.

EIGHT-POINT BUCK

Horace Shallard, 17 Fairfield Hotel, was the first hunter to weigh in a buck in the Sylvester competition early Saturday morning. His weigh wasn't beaten over the week-end. It was an eight-point buck and he got it in the Kapor district. M. Grossman, Jameson Motors, weighed in a small one, while M. Hooson, 1535 Hillside Avenue, registered a five-pointer. A spike was bagged by Art Linskill, 3460 "S" Street, on Hill 60, Cowichan Lake district.

Alex McIlvride brought down the biggest buck of the week-end, a 140-pound specimen, while Bill Levy brought down another good-sized one. Norman Lord and Bill Sylvester were others who got an antlered prize.

Fred Harmon, Andy Wright and Pete Bradford, hunting together in the Cowichan, got good bags of blues, while the party of Norman Lord, Harry Buckle, Jimmy Dangerfield, Ray Hill and Dave Cook brought back one buck and limits of blues. Stan Williams, Dennis Hager and Gordy Harris didn't get limits, but returned with several birds.

Alan Butchart and Johnny Wenger had three good days on Salt Spring Island. They bagged a buck and got their limit of blues each day.

The unusually dry season, which prevents scent lying, combined with thick fog, made the first two days of the hunting season a disappointment to many sportsmen on Salt Spring Island. There was a large influx of visiting hunters, who, according to reports, had no luck among the local sportsmen, Gavin Mouat Jr. and party headed the list with three bucks to their credit. H. T. Peter and Walter Jansen bagged a 120-pound buck and Mervyn Gardiner got a smaller one.

T. J. SHAUGHNESSY DIES

CHICAGO (AP) — Attorney Thomas J. Shaughnessy, 46, former manager of the Black Hawks hockey team, died suddenly of a heart attack today.

His widow, Marguerite, said her husband played football on the same team with Knute Rockne before graduating from Notre Dame University at South Bend, Ind.

Winnipeg—Gordon Thompson, 136, Calgary, knocked out Billy Evans, 145, Regina (9), to win western Canada welterweight title.

Claim Dominoes Dominate League

Basketball Officials Seek Greater Use of High Gymnasium

The argument between the Victoria Basketball League and the Domino Basketball Club over the use of the Victoria High School gymnasium, in which the former seeks control of the gym for the sake of basketball in Victoria, was aired briefly before the City School Board last night.

The interview between trustees and executives of the basketball league concluded with a decision that a committee of the board would meet representatives of both organizations to determine whether some settlement could be made.

Frank Shandley, president; Walter Yeamans, secretary; and George Gordon, Ernie Harris and Jim Hall, executive members, appeared before the trustees and requested reconsideration of the board's decision to grant the Dominoes use of the gym for their purposes.

Mr. Yeamans, as spokesman, said the league had functioned efficiently for 15 years, and up until last year had always been able to pay its way and serve the best interests of basketball as an amateur sport in Victoria.

Last year, however, the Dominoes were given use of the gym, and despite the fact they had agreed to care for the league from a financial standpoint, the league had not received the amount promised after the Dominoes took in over $5,000.

As a result league-winning teams had not received trophies and players had to meet their own traveling expenses when meeting out-of-town clubs.

HURTING SPORT

Domination of the league by one club was not doing the sport any good in Victoria, and was developing it from a commercial standpoint rather than an amateur one, Mr. Yeamans said.

He asked reconsideration of the board's decision and requested the league be given authority to arrange schedules at the High School and apportion the receipts, as had been done in former years.

In 1936, he said, the Dominoes (then the Blue Ribbons) had received 33 1/3 per cent and in 1937 35 per cent. Meantime the league had been able to use the balance of the funds to encourage the younger players and foster basketball generally in Victoria.

Trustee Walter E. Staneland, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee to whom the matter had been referred, said his committee would gladly meet representatives of both organizations in an effort to reach an amicable agreement. He said he had discussed such a meeting with Domino representatives and they were agreeable.

No Action Yet on Soccer Franchise

VANCOUVER — John Richardson, secretary of the British Columbia Soccer Commission, said following a meeting of that body last night that no decision was made regarding the entry of the Victoria and District Soccer League into the intercity football circuit.

The commission secretary said the matter of the Victoria League's entry and the entry of Victoria Elks Club had been discussed and the matter was being referred to another meeting to be held here tomorrow.

Youth Brings Piano Return

G. B. Heintzman Says Young People Demand Form of Self-expression

"The piano business is coming back. Modern youth and its demand for self expression is the chief reason," said George Bradford Heintzman, vice-president of the great Canadian piano firm which his grandfather founded nearly 90 years ago and of which his father is the president.

Mr. Heintzman arrived in Victoria today from Toronto on his first visit to the Pacific Coast in six years. His father was here two years ago.

Piano manufacturers have the radio to partly thank for the return of the piano, Mr. Heintzman believes.

"When the radio first became popular it was a big factor in hurting the piano business," he said. "Now, however, the reverse is true. It is stimulating the sale of pianos."

"The radio has become a part of the home equipment, like the electric iron, the vacuum cleaner or the washing machine. But it does not fill every demand for music."

MUSIC IN EDUCATION

Mr. Heintzman said also various governments, in promoting modern education, have brought the piano to the fore.

"Music is now accepted as a part of education and credits are given for music courses," he said.

New designs in piano models are also helping to bring back the piano to popularity, he said. Modern pianos are smaller in size, look better in modern surroundings and are less in price than they were some years ago.

He pointed to the Moderne design in the showrooms of Fletcher Brothers, where he was interviewed. This new model is chromed and finished with chromium and is the last word in ultra-modern smartness.

Across Canada, Mr. Heintzman said, the piano business had increased this year 100 per cent over 1937.

"It must certainly be coming back," J. H. Fletcher said. "There have been four leading piano salesmen here in 10 days. That is more than in the last five years."

Mr. Heintzman knows the piano business from the ground floor up. He joined the family firm when he was 18, beginning in the factory and climbing steadily to the top. He was made vice-president in 1925.

He is interested in every phase of music in Canada and has been president of the Canadian Bureau for the Advancement of Music and president of the Canadian Piano Manufacturers' Association.

The first shipment of the season of Okanagan McIntosh Red apples has arrived on Wholesale Row. The apples are of very fine quality. Further shipments are expected.

Carloads of bananas, oranges, lemons and grapefruit arrived today. It was reported.

Cantaloupes are now on the market again with new shipments.

The peach market is said to be nearly through.

There will be a celebration of Holy Communion in St. John's Church at 10.30 Wednesday morning (St. Matthew's Day) when special intercession will be made for the sick in the parish.

HORSE BREEDERS ASKING FOR AID

Subsidy Proposal Placed Before Minister Of Agriculture

Suggestions that the provincial government subsidize the thoroughbred horse-breeding industry of British Columbia by way of cash assistance to obtain good breeding stock or other means were made by a delegation of the B.C. Racing Breeders' Association that interviewed Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture.

Wallace Kelk and Patrick Campbell of Vancouver, and D. B. Carley of Victoria composed the group that waited on the minister. They suggested that some of the funds obtained from the pari-mutuel tax be allocated for this purpose. They outlined the value of the horsebreeding industry and showed what could be done in supplying remounts.

Dr. MacDonald said, while sympathetic to their aims, he could not see how the government could subsidize one branch of agriculture on this basis. The question of remounts might be taken up with Ottawa, he said.

The Canadian Pensioners' Association will meet Friday evening at 7.30.

TOWN TOPICS

Two solitaire diamond rings and a diamond ring set with rubies were stolen by thieves who Monday night entered the home of Mrs. Annie Clyde, 2845 Fifth Street, according to a city police report. Entrance was gained through the kitchen window. Police investigation disclosed.

A call to Knox United Church, Saskatoon, a pulpit vacated through the illness and resignation of the pastor, has been issued to Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson, formerly of First United Church here. With Mrs. Wilson, Dr. Wilson is now in Toronto, but will leave soon to take up the temporary pastorate in Saskatoon.

Capt. Elmore Philpott, M.C., has commenced a 4,000-mile speaking tour on behalf of Canadian Clubs. His itinerary includes the Peace River district of B.C. He will return to Victoria early in November to make arrangements for the lecture by Sir George Paish, scheduled for November 24.

The sum of $57.81 for the North Davis fund for the children's Christmas treat was raised during the Provincial Exhibition week. The fund at this date now stands at $424 in the Bank of Montreal. The objective is $1,000. Donations may be left at the Empire Realty Office, 1008 Broad Street.

A social evening will be held at Room 9, 1010 Langley Street, Wednesday at 8, under the auspices of the Spencer Backler branch of the Friends of the MacKenzie-Papineau Battalion. Moving pictures, community singing, dancing and refreshments will be included in the program. Members and friends are invited.

An explanation of reports reaching them to the effect that employees of the city electric light plant were being worked seven days a week, allegedly in contradiction to an assurance they would work only six days, was sought from the City Council in a letter from the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers' local branch, received today.

LONDON RULING ON ALBERTA ACTS

Securities, Interest and Proceedings Measures Will Go to Privy Council

EDMONTON (CP)—Test case to decide whether two provincial acts are legal. The Provincial Securities and Interest Act and the Provincial Guaranteed Securities Proceedings Act will be heard by the Privy Council in London.

The Alberta Appeal Court, opening fall sittings here yesterday, unanimously consented to the application of the Alberta government for leave to appeal the test case resulting from the action of the Independent Order of Foresters, Toronto, against the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation District. The Foresters in the action sought enforcement of $140,000 worth of irrigation district bonds held by it.

Both acts were passed in 1937. The Securities Interest Act authorized halving of interest on securities guaranteed by the Alberta government. In May last the appeal court here unanimously agreed this act was invalid.

The Securities Proceedings Act closed the courts to suits instituted by holders of bonds guaranteed by the government. Four judges found this invalid and Mr. Justice Frank Ford dissented. Both acts had been ruled invalid by Mr. Justice W. C. Ewing in the Alberta Supreme Court and the government had appealed. Chief Justice Harvey yesterday said the terms of the government's appeal were that $2,500 should be "lodged as security for costs" and the appeal books prepared and sent to the Privy Council "within three months of this date."

Union Agent Shot To Death At St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Arthur Schading, 51, business agent for Local No. 1 of the Electrical Workers' Union, was shot to death last night as he left union headquarters.

Twelve bullets pierced his body. Schading has been the cause of a bitter inter-union dispute for more than a year between the electrical workers and the sign hangers.

NEW RADIUM AID

WASHINGTON (AP)—L. F. Curtiss of the Federal Bureau of Standards offered today the last word in machines to find lost particles of precious radium. An instrument which he developed was said to be able to detect the presence of one 29,000th of an ounce of radium at a distance of 100 feet.

Three Proposals Left With Court

B.C. Electric Counsel Asks Dismissal, Reduced Damages or New Trial

Judgment was reserved by the Court of Appeal today on the appeal of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, against conviction on a charge of negligence resulting in the death of John Thomas Smith, Vancouver, two years ago. The deceased was struck by a company interurban car and died on Granville Street. Judgment in favor of the widow was given after jury trial in Vancouver.

Senator J. W. de B. Farris, for the appellants, left the court with three proposals. He contended first there were no grounds for conviction at the trial under Mr. Justice Fisher, inasmuch as evidence did not support the finding of negligence on the company's part. If the court disagreed on that point, he asked that it revise the degree of negligence, noting the company had been declared 75 per cent at fault in the jury's verdict. Failing a settlement on that point, he asked for a new trial of the whole issue on grounds of failure by the jury to answer certain questions on negligence.

He did not want a new trial if it could be avoided, and was prepared to abandon his claim for one if the second proposal reduced damages to a point acceptable to the company.

In his remarks to the court, Senator Farris summarized the accident in which the deceased Smith had crossed the interurban tracks and then stepped back directly into the path of an oncoming train when he saw a train approaching on adjacent tracks from the opposite direction.

"Until the deceased stopped and stepped back, there was no indication of immediate danger. After that everything possible was done to avoid an accident," Senator Farris claimed.

C. Carmichael, for the respondent, Matilda Smith, executrix of the estate of the deceased, went at some lengths to establish his contention that the driver of the interurban car had failed to slow down to a point where he could have avoided the accident after he had seen the accused.

He contended the evidence in the transcripts was sufficiently strong to support the finding of the jury placing 75 per cent of the responsibility for the accident on the transportation company.

R. A. MYRA IN SEVERE FALL

Robert A. Myra, 1145 Woodstock Avenue, linotype machinist at the Daily Colonist, suffered undetermined injuries when he fell this afternoon through a skylight from the composing room to the job pressroom on the floor below.

Mr. Myra was repairing a skylight over the job pressroom when he lost his footing and slipped through the glass. He dropped about 15 feet and was reported to have landed on his head.

After a speedy examination by Dr. D. W. Graham and Dr. Lloyd W. Bassett he was rushed to the hospital in an unconscious condition in the C. & C. ambulance.

Vancouver Bar To Alien Voters

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver City Council yesterday appointed a special committee to prepare for next year suggestions to prevent alien ratepayers voting in civic elections.

The appointment was made following charges by Alderman John Bennett that 2,000 aliens are voting as property owners at civic elections here.

"No questions are asked regarding their nationality when they register property," he said. "And as property owners they automatically go on the voters' list."

The aldermen suggested an affidavit form as to British citizenship should be obtained in annual property checks of the assessment department or that affidavits be taken in the land registry office.

ROME (CP-Havas)—Fortune in jewelry lost last May 1 in the plane crash in which 19 persons were killed while returning from the Tirana wedding of Albania's King Zog was recovered yesterday at Naples.

The jewels, valued at almost $300,000 turned up in the possession of two persons who had purchased them from peasants who had found them near the scene of the crash and had not realized their value.

OBITUARIES

MABEL E. SHERLOCK

The death occurred yesterday at the Royal Jubilee Hospital of Miss Mabel Evelyn Sherlock of 428 Superior Street, eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Sherlock of Manchester, England. The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon from McCall Brothers' Funeral Home at 3.30. Rev. Hugh McLeod will conduct the service, after which interment will be made in Colwood Burial Park.

JOSEPH BLAND

Many sympathizing friends attended the funeral of Joseph Bland held from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel yesterday afternoon. Rev. A. E. Balfour Bruce officiated, and the hymn, "Abide With Me," was sung. The casket was covered with beautiful flowers. The following acted as pallbearers: S. A. Carter, J. L. Moore, H. Mitchell and W. E. Loece. The remains were laid at rest in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

ALLAN ANDREW CALWELL

A large congregation attended the funeral of Allan Andrew (Andy) Calwell, held yesterday afternoon from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Rev. J. W. Churchill conducted the service, and the hymns, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," and "Abide With Me," were sung. A profusion of beautiful floral tributes surrounded the casket. The following were the pallbearers: S. W. Eastman, Fred Holland, Hastings Brown, Tony Lynn, Jack Rowe and R. W. Margetts. The remains were laid at rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

JOSEPH CROOKS

At the Royal Jubilee Hospital this morning the death occurred of Joseph Crooks of 608 Crossroads, Sidney, B.C., aged 68 years. Born at St. Helens, Lancashire, England, Mr. Crooks has been a resident of Sidney for 27 years. There survive four daughters, Mrs. Anne Temple and Mrs. E. W. Hetherington of Victoria; Mrs. Rosa Franklin, Kernan, Great Falls, Mont., and Mrs. N. A. Rogers of Los Angeles, Cal.; three sons, William and George Crooks of Victoria, and Joseph of Saanich; thirteen grandchildren; one brother, James Crooks, Nanaimo, and brothers and sisters in England. The remains are reposing at the Sands Mortuary and announcement of funeral services will be made later.

Address Given on Dickensian Tour

"A Dickensian Tour of London and Rochester" was the title of an address given by Mrs. Dorothy H. White before the Victoria Dickens Fellowship at the first meeting of the season Monday night in the clubrooms, Fort Street. Commencing with her reception at Dickens House, headquarters of the Dickens Fellowship in London, Mrs. White described in detail many of the spots of interest she visited. Of these, Lamp Street, where Dickens lived as a youth; Marshalsea Prison, the Georgian Inn, famed haunt of Dickens and his contemporaries, and the Watt's Charity in Rochester, home of "The Seven Poor Travelers," were especially interesting as they remained almost unchanged from the days when Dickens knew them.

Mrs. White also attended the annual costume party held by the London Fellowship in "Fagin's Den," where 500 guests, all representing Dickens characters, were received by "Fagin," "Nancy" and "Bill Sykes." In closing, Mrs. White stated that Dickens House had been greatly improved by the recent alterations carried out there and that the renovations had in no way destroyed the Dickensian atmosphere so long associated with 48 Doughty Street.

Mrs. Charles B. Briggs of California spoke briefly on the common bond of union always to be found among students of Dickens.

New members enrolled last night were: Mrs. C. G. S. Spooner, Mrs. G. M. Lang, G. Neville and S. P. Tucker. H. L. Fensham presided.

Netherlands to Increase Defences

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (AP)—Queen Wilhelmina opened Parliament today with a speech from the throne approving increased military precautions in The Netherlands.

"The continuance of proposed measures for strengthening the military efficiency of the country is indispensable," the Queen said. She asserted steps would be taken for defence of The Netherlands' East Indies, and declared military expansion would entail "bigger sacrifices" in taxes.

A meeting of the Esquimalt Dramatic Club will be held on Wednesday at 8.30 at the home of the president, Mrs. B. Deane Freeman, 816 Dupsmaur Road.

Ward Three Hall Association will hold a business meeting at Liberal headquarters on Thursday at 8, when the delegates to the convention held at Kelowna will present their reports. W. T. Straith, M.P.P., will be the speaker.

Victoria Boy Wins Bike Racing Award

Bill Court Gets Medal For Performance At Oregon Beach

Bill Court, 2633 Snelbourne Street, was the recipient of a handsome shield-shaped medal bearing the crest of the League of American Wheelmen last week, as a result of his victory in the Portland News-Telegram second annual bicycle derby final held at Jantzen Beach, Oregon.

Bill, despite the fact that he had already traveled 400 miles by bike with his two Victoria companions, Ken Stofer and Tom Ellis, entered the qualifying round of this meet upon arrival there and emerged the victor. But his performance in that contest made him look so much like a professional and he didn't have anything on his person to prove otherwise—that officials of the race said that he could not take the prize if he won the final.

The Victoria youth won the six-mile free-for-all and although he was barred from sharing in any of the 10 awards, a hasty conference of officials resulted in a decision that he be made a special award, which he received last week. A new bike was the original first prize.

The newspaper sponsors of the race lauded the Victoria boy in its columns, noting that he demonstrated that Canadians are real sports by riding in the final after he had been told that he couldn't win any of the prizes.

Court, Stofer and Ellis traveled 750 miles on the biking holiday. They got as far as Harrisburgh, Ore., before making the return trip.

PART CLAIM IS ALLOWED

Judgment Allowed in Part on Appeal of Northwestern Terminals

The appeal of the Northwestern Terminals against a judgment of Mr. Justice MacDonald dismissing that concern's claim for chattels allegedly taken over by the Westminster Trust Company on mortgage proceedings, was allowed in part in a judgment handed down by the Court of Appeal today.

Claims by the Northwestern Terminals covered certain equipment which the company declared not subject to assignment under the Bankruptcy Act to the trust company, which foreclosed on a mortgage.

Supporting the written judgment of Mr. Justice Sloan, the court allowed the claim of the appellants in respect to one piece of equipment, a crane, contingent on its removal from the property.

The court agreed with appellants' counsel in objecting to remarks by the trial judge regarding the credibility of a witness, but stated objection on that point was not sufficient to set aside the judgment.

Registration at Victoria College this year is 211, which is slightly lower than last year, George H. Deane, municipal inspector, reports to the City School Board. Mr. Deane said last year's registration was 215. This year the first-year registration has been good but there has been a slight falling off in second-year applications.

Saanich Tories Send Delegates

Twelve delegates from Saanich will attend the Conservative party convention at Kamloops this week-end.

They are: P. Mickleburgh, president of the Saanich Association; Leslie F. Osborne, who was the candidate last election; W. H. Carr, W. O. Wallace, Mrs. W. O. Wallace, J. Watson, Mrs. L. H. McQueen, Mrs. C. Giles, Mrs. F. F. Osborne, Mrs. Leslie Osborne, J. Patterson and Bruce Mickleburgh.

Among the Esquimalt delegates will be E. V. Finland, with R. H. Pooley, K.C., former attorney general, and G. G. Allen of Cobble Hill.

Shantymen's Work Is Told

Representatives of the Shantymen's Christian Association from Victoria, Duncan, Nanaimo, Cowichan Lake and Sooke last night gathered at the Y.W.C.A. for the annual fellowship dinner of the Vancouver Island branch, followed by a public meeting.

W. B. Fisher, president of the branch, presided, and at the public meeting the speaker was Norman P. Grubb, secretary in London of the World Wide Evangelization Crusade.

About 80 persons attended the dinner and considerably more took part in the meeting. The dinner hour was occupied with the giving of brief testimonies and the singing of gospel choruses.

The meeting was opened with prayers and scripture reading by Rev. Dr. A. S. Imrie and Rev. James Hyde. Annual reports were received from J. S. Whiting, superintendent; L. J. Eckman, treasurer; E. C. Wilderspin, gospel literature; Mrs. Ruth Whiting, Cordova Bay Sunday School; Reg. Scoble, beach work, and Percy Willis, the affiliated mission hospital at Ceepeece.

Letters were read from Dr. H. A. McLean, Miss Ruth Portway and Miss Winnifred Straight of the mission hospital staff, acknowledging the goodness of God and the kindness of friends in the carrying out of their work. Miss Beatrice Weller and Harold Shannon spoke of the work of the hospital, giving statistics of cases treated.

Activities of the Strangers' Rest at Port Jervis were outlined by Mr. Willis.

Mr. Grubb, in an address on fulfilling a spiritual law, quoted John 12:24 and said it was a privilege to suffer for Jesus. "If we die for Him we have the right to the harvest," he said. "The trial of faith is only another opportunity to praise the Lord and defeat the Devil. We get hurt by the resentments, not the other fellow... it works in the trivialities of life."

Mr. Grubb said present world conditions were said to be of the Devil, "but he is God's Devil and God is behind the things that are happening," he said. "They are His instruments. The Devil's great defect was at Calvary and the Devil's attack there turned out to be the Devil's biggest defeat."

Sanctions Urged To Avert War

Mineral Ban Would Prevent Prolonged Fighting, Says Deputy Minister

"Great Britain and the United States could impose mineral sanctions, not harmful to themselves, that would make it impossible for Germany or any other country, to carry on war for an extended length of time," said Dr. J. F. Walker, Deputy Minister of Mines and mineralogist for the province of British Columbia, at a luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Victoria, in the Empress Hotel today.

The two nations combined controlled 50 per cent of the world's mineral resources. In Dr. Walker's opinion

H. Lee Gets C.P.R. Los Angeles Post

MONTREAL — Appointment of H. A. Lee, assistant general agent, passenger department, Canadian Pacific Railway, New York, to succeed William McIlroy, retiring general agent, passenger department, Los Angeles, Calif., effective October 1, was announced today by William Baird, steamship passenger traffic manager, and R. G. McNeillie, passenger traffic manager, Montreal.

Retiring under pension regulations, William McIlroy served the Canadian Pacific Railway at various points in Ontario for 29 years before being transferred to the United States in 1920. At Toronto in 1915 he was city passenger agent and became chief clerk in the district passenger office the following year. In 1920 he went to Detroit as general agent, transferring to Los Angeles in 1922.

Harold A. Lee, who will become general agent at Los Angeles, has served the Canadian Pacific Railway entirely within the United States. He was at Boston, Mass., from 1913 until 1929, became city passenger agent in 1929, rail passenger agent in 1930 and district passenger representative later the same year. In 1934 he became assistant general agent at New York.

Coastwise Lumber Rates in Effect

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — New coastwise lumber rates will go into effect at midnight today, Robert C. Parker, chairman of the Pacific Lumber Carriers' Association announced here.

A general boost of 50 cents per 1,000 board feet was announced. New rate from Pacific Northwest ports and mills to San Francisco and Los Angeles will be $6 per 1,000 feet, and $6.50 to San Diego. Smaller California ports will have extra added charges.

Parker said increased operating costs were responsible for the raise.

Queen Mary Was Delayed By Fog

NEW YORK (AP) — Fog hanging over New York and vicinity for more than 18 hours lifted slightly during the night, permitting partial resumption of long-delayed shipping and air travel.

The British liner, Queen Mary, carrying 1,899 passengers, docked 11 hours and 40 minutes late.

Poor visibility forced the German transatlantic clipper plane Nordwind down in Long Island Sound, 25 miles from her regular terminal at Port Washington, late in the afternoon.

Pilots' Lookout

Pacific Pioneer arrived at Canadian National docks from Manchester via Seattle, 10 p.m.

Hikawa Maru, Japan for Vancouver, passed 1:15 a.m.

Loch Lomond arrived at Canadian National docks from Union Bay, 6 a.m.

Around the Docks

AORANGI THURSDAY

Bringing in a large list of passengers from Australasia via Hawaii, Ms. Aorangi, Capt. T. V. (Mickey) Hill, will reach quarantine at 11 Thursday morning. It was announced today by James Macfarlane, Canadian Pacific district passenger agent.

The big motorliner will berth at Pier 2, Rithet Docks, at 1 Thursday afternoon and proceed to Vancouver at 3.

The Aorangi has 70 passengers for disembarkation at Victoria.

MADE FAST TRIP

Completing an unusually fast voyage to South Africa, British freighter Hecrowan, under charter to the North Pacific Shipping Co. Ltd., reached Capetown Friday, September 16, only 41 days out from Victoria.

The ship sailed from this port August 6, proceeding to her destination via the Straits of Magellan.

Lumber, canned salmon and general cargo were promptly discharged at Capetown, constituting speedy delivery of B.C. goods to the South African market.

PACIFIC PIONEER IN

Making port at 10 last night from Manchester, via Seattle, Ms. Pacific Pioneer, Capt. H. Campbell, this morning discharged 600 stems of bananas, a parcel of citrus fruits and general, and commenced loading 100,000 feet of lumber outward.

The Furness ship was posted to sail this afternoon for Vancouver to discharge the balance of her inward cargo before going on berth to load for the home ward voyage.

Passengers for Victoria arriving by the Pacific Pioneer were Mrs. B. Buckle of Saanich, Mrs. E. A. Hanley of Headquarters, Vancouver Island, and Miss M. B. Todd, who is returning to Ottawa. C. W. McVay, also from the United Kingdom, went on to Vancouver.

LOCH LOMOND HERE

Newest addition to the local lumber-carrying fleet, Ms. Loch Lomond came alongside the Canadian National docks at 6 this morning from Union Bay, where she bunkered.

While alongside today the Loch Lomond will stow 300,000 feet of lumber. She is under charter to Canadian Transport Company and will make delivery in the United Kingdom.

Ms. Wearpool was still at the Ogden Point berth this morning. It was expected that she would complete loading her 1,250,000-foot consignment during the day, and clear.

LOCHAVON OUTBOUND

Laden with British Columbia fresh fruit, canned salmon, frozen fish and general, Ms. Lochavon, which visited Victoria last Thursday, will sail from New Westminster tomorrow for Seattle homeward bound.

The 9,200-ton liner is taking out a full load from this coast for Liverpool, Southampton, London and Rotterdam.

Ms. Loch Katrine will be the next inbound Royal Mail ship, scheduled to arrive here September 30.

HIKAWA ARRIVES

With 99 passengers in her first, tourist and third-class space, Ms. Hikawa Maru of the N.Y.K. fleet, steamed into quarantine shortly after midnight on completion of her trans-Pacific voyage from Japan.

The liner had a fair cargo of Japanese products in her holds for the Canadian and United States markets and carried a large parcel of raw silk and silk goods for shipment east from Vancouver. She passed this port for the mainland at 1:15 this morning.

CLIPPER TESTED — High above Seattle on her first extended test flight soars the new Boeing-built air clipper, which ultimately will be used in regular Pan American trans-Atlantic passenger and mail flights. In the above picture the 41-ton sky giant is seen cruising at about 175 miles per hour over Seattle's L. C. Smith skyscraper.

WHEAT (CP) — Winnipeg wheat futures declined more than 2c for the second consecutive session today, due to lack of export demand to counteract lower outside markets. At the final bell prices were 1 1/2c lower, October at 62 1/2, November 62 1/2, December 61 1/2 and May 65.

Trading almost ceased in the late stages with brokers apparently waiting developments in the European political situation. General selling flurries struck the market at the start on Liverpool reports of an improved European situation.

Only a small overnight Canadian wheat export trade would be confirmed.

Liverpool finished 1/4 to 2 1/4 lower, due to lack of demand for wheat there, improved European peace prospects and lower North American markets yesterday.

Buenos Aires was off more than a cent.

Fair demand developed for Nos. 3 and 4 northern cash wheat. No. 3 northern spread improved 1/2c. Coarse grain futures, except rye, held firm with some export demand reported for barley. Rye was down a cent or more near the close.

Country marketings yesterday were 6,000,000 bushels, compared with 1,755,000 a year ago.

Wheat 1 to 4-point Gains LATE WEAKNESS

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg wheat futures declined more than 2c for the second consecutive session today, due to lack of export demand to counteract lower outside markets. At the final bell prices were 1 1/2c lower, October at 62 1/2, November 62 1/2, December 61 1/2 and May 65.

Trading almost ceased in the late stages with brokers apparently waiting developments in the European political situation. General selling flurries struck the market at the start on Liverpool reports of an improved European situation.

Only a small overnight Canadian wheat export trade would be confirmed.

Liverpool finished 1/4 to 2 1/4 lower, due to lack of demand for wheat there, improved European peace prospects and lower North American markets yesterday.

Buenos Aires was off more than a cent.

Fair demand developed for Nos. 3 and 4 northern cash wheat. No. 3 northern spread improved 1/2c. Coarse grain futures, except rye, held firm with some export demand reported for barley. Rye was down a cent or more near the close.

Country marketings yesterday were 6,000,000 bushels, compared with 1,755,000 a year ago.
